Europe Needs Aid This Year, Marshall Says

All But Sounds Call For Congress Session

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 — (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall declared today that some European countries will need American help this year "to meet the immediate threat of intolerable hunger and cold." He indicated that such help could not be given without a special session of Congress, possibly in late October or November.

But Marshall stopped short of saying in so many words that a special session would have to be called, declaring that he had not made up his mind on any details of the emergency aid program.

In a news conference, Marshall also gave the following information on foreign affairs:

Goes To New York Friday

1. He will go to New York Friday night to head the American delegation at the United Nations Assembly meeting opening Tuesday.

2. The American government is "gratified" at the formation of a coalition government in Greece which brings the Liberal and Populist parties into a single cabinet.

3. The United States is considering its next move in the Korean situation as a result of Russia's rejection Sunday of an invitation to attend a four-power conference here on ways of restoring Korean unity and independence. Meantime talks with China and Britain, which agreed to the American invitation, have been postponed.

The Secretary of State himself opened the discussion of the European economic crisis by reading a statement. He said there are two phases to the problem of helping to rehabilitate Europe.

The first one is "some form of interim assistance to meet the immediate threat of intolerable hunger and cold."

Marshall Plan Is Second Phase

The second is "the general program for rehabilitation of the respective economics" of European countries — the project generally known as the Marshall plan.

The question of stop-gap aid has become "more immediate," Marshall said, due to the severity of last winter, bad droughts, increasing crop shortages and "restrictive financial measures which certain European governments have already been obliged to take."

He then explained that by late October the government will have basic information on the situation. This will enable congressional supplies of food and fuel for the coming winter where it can be shown "that every effort has been made locally to meet the critical needs."

Actress De Havilland, March Win Film Honors

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—(INS)—Frederic March and Olivia De Havilland emerged today as the outstanding motion picture stars of the 1946-47 season in a poll of 461 film critics.

March was cited for his performance in "The Best Years Of Our Lives," and Miss De Havilland for her work in "To Each His Own."

The poll, an annual affair, was conducted by the Film Daily, a movie trade newspaper.

12-Point Program To Boost Ruhr's Coal Production Is Announced By U.S., Britain

FOILED PLOT — University of Paris student and former United States Army Air Forces flyer, Reginald F. M. Gilbert (above), St. Louis, Mo., is credited with French police in foiling an alleged plot to "bomb" London. Gilbert agreed to pilot a plane for the Jewish underground but informed French police of the plan.

Will Share Control Of Mine Operations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The United States and Britain announced tonight a 12-point program to increase German coal production.

It gives the American government an equal voice with the British in running the Ruhr mines.

At the same time it gives the Germans the entire responsibility for actual coal production.

The agreement is the product of nearly a month of detailed discussion here.

Undersecretary of War William Draper told reporters at a joint British-American news conference that he hoped the new accord will make it possible to step up coal production to the prewar level of 400,000 tons daily by the end of next year.

Output At Postwar High

Coal output in the Ruhr now stands at 244,000 tons daily, a new high since the end of the war.

The detailed agreement means the end of the strictly British control of North German coal which has been in effect since Germany's surrender.

Management of the mines now will rest with German technical and policy making officials. A joint British-American board, however, will have the power to veto any decision or policy which it does not like.

Here are the main "recommendations" agreed upon by the negotiators:

1. Expenditures of about $25,000,000 by a joint British-American agency to import steel and other mine supplies and equipment needed for expanded production. About $15,000,000 of this will be used to buy 100,000 tons of American steel.

2. Appointment by the American zone commander in Germany of a United States official to act as a joint chairman of the present all-British coal board pending the formation of the new Anglo-American control panel.

Larger Food Stockpiles

3. Increasing food stockpiles "particularly in the Ruhr and in the large cities" in both British and American zones so as to insure the "punctual honoring of the full 1,550 calorie program for the Germans."

4. Increased use of trucks and river barges to haul coal, thus lessening the burden of the inadequate German railway facilities.

5. Establishment of the "highest practicable" priority on steel and other materials needed to keep transportation equipment in working condition.

6.—Faster delivery of pit-wood from the merged zone and also the Soviet-occupied areas of Germany which formerly produced most of the mine props.

7. "Serious consideration" of an immediate increase in the price of coal sold within Germany. The price of coal exported to other countries was increased recently to about $15 a ton.

Russia Rejects U.N. Atom Report And Assails U.S.

"Trust" Charge Is Denied By Osborn

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 10—(AP)—Russia charged today that the United States is attempting to create a world atomic trust and dictate its atomic will on all nations. The United States denied the accusation as "false."

For 35 minutes Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, hurled charge after charge against the United States in the bitterest speech yet heard in any United Nations atomic energy organization.

He rejected the second report of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, which was up for final action, as "completely inacceptable." He said the United States was trying to "undermine" attempts to achieve unanimous agreement on atomic control while at the same time voicing "high sounding" phrases for harnessing the atom.

Adjourns Without Vote

The commission adjourned until tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) without a vote on the report.

In a statement to newsmen, the United States representative, Frederick H. Osborn, called the Soviet accusations, in effect, "old stuff." Osborn said:

"The accusations made by Mr. Gromyko were in my opinion false.

"False statements are not made true by their repetition and this repetition has been going on for the past 12 months.

"A careful perusal of the records of the meetings of the commission and its committees will reveal the intense and active co-operation of the representatives of 10 and even 11 nations in the development of the proposals now before the commission.

Record Speaks For Itself

"That record speaks for itself and anyone interested in the facts can read it and draw his own conclusions."

A United States spokesman said Osborn would ignore the Russian speech tomorrow in his comment on the report.

AFL Calls Russia Threat To Peace

CHICAGO, Sept. 10. (INS)—The 15-man Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor lashed out at Russia today and termed that nation "a threat to world peace."

The council, representing 7½ million workers, demanded the United States end its "do-nothing" policy and take the initiative in smoothing difficulties between the two nations.

The AFL blast, issued through President William Green, was approved unanimously by council members.

Executive council members hinted that new demands for pay increases may be sought as prices continued to rise.

The top officers stated:

"Unless the cost of living is promptly reduced and stabilized, pressure for higher wages is certain to mount."

President Green said price control was "impractical." He said his remedy for inflation was increased production.

Green listed a three-point anti-inflationary program:

1. Revision of foreign export commitment;

2. Encouragement of increased agricultural and industrial production;

3. Expansion of transportation facilities to move increased production.

Expressman Arrested In Death Of Woman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — A 36-year-old expressman was held without bond today for a hearing on charges of slaying Mrs. Theodore J. Rowell, 35, telephone operator, found dead in bed at their home today.

The man, Nixon McGuire, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Needham S. Turnage, who deferred a hearing until Monday to permit a coroner's inquest.

Detective Sergeant Emmett P. Talbot said McGuire walked into a police station early today and reported he had found Mrs. Rowell dead in bed, clad in a slip, one eye blackened and her face swollen.

Newspaper, Warned Against Using Lottery Stories, Defies Postmaster

[By The Associated Press]

Taken to task by a postmaster for publishing a story about the negro temporarily denied an automobile he won in a lottery, the St. Louis Star-Times served notice yesterday it would continue to publish such reports.

The Baltimore Sunpapers executives also have been "cautioned" because the Sun carried a story about a drawing conducted by the City of Peoria, Ill. Sunpapers executives said they had not yet decided on a future policy.

Postoffice officials in Washington said warnings like those to the Star-Times and Sunpapers are routine. They disclaimed any "campaign" against newspapers carrying lottery stories.

They pointed, however, to a law forbidding the mailing of publications carrying lottery advertisements or news about prizes. While they could recall no prosecutions of newspapers in recent years under the law, they said they would have no choice but to go to court if papers persisted in deliberately violating the law.

In St. Louis, the Star-Times said in an editorial it intends to keep on publishing such stories as the account of a North Carolina negro who won a Cadillac car in a lottery last July. The negro was first denied the prize on the ground that the drawing was only for white participants, but he subsequently received payment equivalent to the automobile.

St. Louis Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann cautioned the Star-Times that publication of the story violated the postal fraud and lottery law.

Dickmann said the newspaper would have been barred from the mails if publication of the story had been noted at the time.

To this, the Star-Times replied: "It is not a free press when any public agency attempts to tell a newspaper that it cannot inform the public of discrimination against a negro because of his race."

And the editorial, carried as an open letter to the Postmaster, added:

"A newspaper which believes in freedom, practices it."

Head Of World Bank Questions Loan Efficacy

McCloy Rules Out "Stop-Gap" Credit

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—John J. McCloy, American president of the World Bank, said tonight that Americans were still willing to lend Europe money for "productive purposes" but were beginning to question whether dollar loans were the answer to Europe's problems.

His statement came as British leaders worked on a dollar-saving program of further curtailment in the military forces and plugged away with prospects of success at the industry-crippling Yorkshire coal strike—two phases of an economic situation which Winston Churchill said threatened "a winter of privation more severe than any we endured during the war."

"Flood Of Bad News"

In an address prepared for BBC broadcast, McCloy said Americans were "faced with a constant flood of bad news—economic and political—some of it exaggerated, but all of it bad" so that "the impression exists that even the $3,750,000,000 loan to England—a sizeable sum by any calculation—has had so little beneficial effect on the situation that it has put in doubt the efficacy of all loans."

The World Bank president—here for the annual meeting of the board of directors of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and International Monetary Fund—also ruled out, at a news conference, the possibility that bank loans might be obtained as a stop gap for purchase of food and other consumer goods until some kind of Marshall plan is effective.

"I think you can say that we are not in the stop-gap business," he told a questioner.

McCloy explained that the International Bank was for the purpose of stimulating long-term international investments for productive purposes and would have to give increasing attention to Latin America, Asia, Africa and the Middle East, aside from Europe.

Meanwhile a "face-saving" solution appeared in prospect for the coal strike.

Back-To-Work Move Proposed

A National Union of Mine Workers official proposed that the Grimethorpe miners go back to work to prevent further deterioration of the pit and restore "normal conditions." Leading collierymen said the announcement was "a way out of the deadlock," because the miners could go back to work, but not at digging coal, without violating their pledge not to resume production until the union and the National Coal Board rescinded an order for them to work a larger daily "stint." At the same time a special committee appointed by the union and the board could begin investigating the diggers' complaints without violating their undertaking not to go so until work was resumed.

The walkout of the Grimethorpe men at one time involved sympathy walkouts at about 50 pits and 60,000 miners and has cost Britain 450,000 tons of coal. About 38 pits and 40,000 men were affected today.

Result Of Pa. Election Hailed By Republicans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The Republican high command today sized up a GOP victory in a special congressional election in Pennsylvania as an omen for 1948 while a top Democrat said the result was "not surprising" in a "district historically Republican."

In Pennsylvania's Eighth District, complete returns from yesterday's balloting gave a 17,602 vote plurality to Republican Franklin H. Lichtenwalter over Democrat Phil H. Storch. The district has been Republican since 1936 and has 73,000 registered Republicans and 46,000 Democrats.

Lichtenwalter supported the Taft-Hartley labor law; Storch urged repeal.

Expensive Stop

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 10 — (AP) — Truck Driver Willie Armstead stopped quickly to avoid hitting a stray horse.

His truck turned over and killed three milk cows he was hauling.

The horse also was killed.

PLAY HOUSE HOME—Mr. and Mrs. Clay Heady moved into their new home at St. Joseph, Mo., this week — a child's play house 6½ by 8½ feet. A friend, Henry Bruckspen, offered them the use of the small house belonging to his daughter, Stacia, 6, when they were unable to obtain other quarters. Stacia's dog, Bingo, accustomed to sleeping in the house, refused to leave. Mrs. Heady stands near the doorway to their new home with Bingo.

Still Higher Food Prices Predicted; Incomes Soar To New Record Rate

20 Billion Dollars Ahead Of Last Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—(AP)—Personal incomes soared in July to a new record rate of $197,000,000,000 a year.

The Commerce Department reported the increase today. It said the rate was $2,000,000,000 over that in June and $20,000,000,000 ahead of last year.

If the rate keeps up for 11 more months:

1. The government would collect more taxes than the $41,667,000,000 President Truman foresaw in forecasting a $4,667,000,000 surplus in the treasury for the fiscal year that began July 1.

Qualifying Point Made

2. Personal incomes would top by $5,400,000,000 the presidential estimated of $191,600,000,000.

An increase on that scale ordinarily would boost government revenues more than $1,500,000,000. But officials made these qualifying points:

Continuance of the July level cannot be counted "in the bag."

Because of a time lag in tax collections, an increase in the size of the tax base is not reflected immediately in higher tax receipts. A gain in receipts may spread over two or three years.

Higher farm income, increased wages and salaries and payment of state bonuses to veterans were responsible for increased personal income in July.

$121,500,000,000 Rate

Wages and salaries, the biggest single item of personal income, were at an annual rate of $121,500,000,000 during July. Net income of farm and business owners and landlords was the second largest at an annual rate of $48,200,000,000.

Personal income also includes dividends and interest on securities, as well as relief payments.

The Commerce Department said increased wages and salaries resulted from "a further rise in trade payrolls, negotiated wage rate increases for bituminous coal miners and the continued expansion of construction employment."

Congress Called "Dumb"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — (AP) — Rep. Rich (R-Pa.) today called Congress "dumb" for passing the 1944 War Contracts Settlement Act. At the same time the General Accounting Office reported that in auditing these settlements it had found nine more cases of suspected "fraud".

JEALOUS WIFE WON'T LET HUSBAND LISTEN TO WOMEN ON RADIO

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP) — A husband today filed a divorce suit which accused his 43-year-old wife of being so jealous that she forbids him to listen to radio programs using female voices.

The suit was filed in Superior Court by Gilbert Johnson, 38, a sales representative, against his wife, Esther. He charged in his suit that she also forbids him to read newspaper articles pertaining to women.

"Ike" Deplores "Draft Ike" Move

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declined today to say whether he would run for President if nominated, though he "deplored" the organization of "Draft Eisenhower" groups.

Speaking of these groups at a crowded news conference, he expressed "sincere hope no one will be attracted into spending his hard earned dollars or time on this."

But as the retiring Army Chief of Staff spoke, a fellow Kansan Alf M. Landon, made the assertion that Eisenhower will be a factor in the 1948 Republican presidential convention unless he definitely "takes himself out of the picture."

Landon, the 1936 GOP nominee, said in a letter responding to a question of Newspaper Columnist Raymond Moley about Eisenhower's chances that if he runs it will not be for the Democratic nomination; and if he runs Kansas will support him.

Eisenhower was asked about the Landon letter and he answered that he is not aware of it. He said he doesn't know what Landon's ideas are.

"I've told people that when I get through being a soldier there is something else I want to do. I honestly don't want to do anything else," the General said. This evidently referred to his plans to take the presidency of Columbia University. He was asked when this will be and "guessed" it will be in late winter or early spring

More than 30 reporters were on hand for the conference, an unusual number.

Dozen Bodies Recovered In River Boat Explosion

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 10 (INS)—Six more victims of the explosion and fire which destroyed the river excursion boat "Island Queen" at her wharf in Pittsburgh were recovered today, raising the known death toll to 12.

Firemen searching the scarred ruins said 11 members of the crew still are missing. All are believed to have perished in the holocaust.

Thus the probable death toll will be around 23.

Egypt Case Put Aside

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Security Council put the British-Egyptian dispute aside indefinitely tonight after the failure of a new attempt by China to find an acceptable solution.

Smallest Corn Crop Since 1936 Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Still higher food prices were predicted by government officials today as the Agriculture Department estimated that the badly-damaged corn crop will total only 2,403,913,000 bushels, smallest yield since the 1936 drought year.

This is about 27 per cent under last year's crop of 3,287,927,000 bushels. Today's forecast, based on conditions as of September 1, compares with an estimate of 2,437,000,000 bushels made on August 15.

On the other hand, today's monthly crop report estimated that the amount of wheat yielded by the nation's farms will be the greatest in history—1,408,602,000 bushels.

Even before the department issued its report telling of the effects of bad growing weather on the corn crop, corn and hog prices on primary markets spurted to new all-time highs. (Hogs are dependent in large part on corn).

Pork Sells For $31 Per 100

Pork on the hoof sold at $31 a hundred pounds at Sioux City and $30.75 at Omaha. Corn sold at $2.64¼ a bushel in Chicago for September delivery and oats at $1.23½.

Agriculture Department economists ruled out any possibility of a general decline in retail food prices for the nation's consumer.

The short corn crop, they said, will be reflected ultimately in higher prices for meat, poultry and dairy products.

The lack of corn to feed cattle, hogs and chickens to marketable weights will force farmers to use millions of bushels of wheat for their animals instead of selling it on the market.

Some officials foresee that 400,000,000 bushels will be used for feed this winter and in the spring.

Review of Commitments Looms

Says It Would Assist Europe To Regain Feet

Reference Is Both Brief And Cryptic

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin, who called on the United States a week ago to distribute its $22,000,000,000 Fort Knox gold hoard throughout the world, recommended tonight the revival of wartime American lease-lend to eliminate the chaos of European economic conditions.

"I do not mind whether it is lease-lend or that," Bevin told a group of visiting American Legionnaires, referring to his proposal to redistribute "the Fort Knox gold."

"But all I say is this—that you can't get settlement in the world unless we get these economic conditions right."

Bevin's reference to the revival of lease-lend, the economic operation by which the United States helped finance and equip the Allied armies and navies during World War II, was as brief and cryptic as his September 3 proposal concerning the American gold stocks — a proposal which puzzled economists and government officials on both sides of the Atlantic.

It never was explained whether Bevin was speaking literally or symbolically about the Fort Knox gold and it was not determined until some time afterward that the Bevin gold idea was not to be connected in any way with the Marshall proposal for American aid for European reconstruction.

Bevin's short address to Past National Commander Paul Griffith and 135 Legionnaires on a tour of European war cemeteries followed by only a few hours a radio address here by John J. McCloy, American president of the World Bank, who declared that Americans were willing to lend Europe money for "productive purposes," but were beginning to question whether dollar loans were the answer to Europe's problems.

Bevin made an emphatic declaration to the Americans that Great Britain would pull through her current economic crisis.

Congress Would Have To Revise Lend-Lease

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Government officials said tonight the Marshall plan to aid Europe might have some aspects of lend-lease in it by the time it is finally developed.

But, these officials said, that if Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin suggested reviving lend-lease as a speedy means of providing help to Europe before Congress convenes, he is wrong.

Probe Of Fontana Loan All Right With Kaiser

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (INS)—Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser tonight challenged a House Executive Expenditures Subcommittee to make an immediate investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's loan to the Fontana Steel Company in California.

Kaiser, angered by a declaration by Rep. Rich (R) Pa., that he would ask for a congressional investigation if the RFC reduces the debt on the 95 million dollar Fontana steel works, telegraphed Subcommittee Chairman Bender (R) Ohio:

"Far from opposing Rep. Rich's proposal, I urge you to call the investigation.

"But I urge that instead of waiting until the RFC may have acted on the Fontana proposal you call the investigation immediately."

Hilarity Reigns Aboard Missouri; President Will Be "Tried" Today

ABOARD USS MISSOURI, Sept. 10—(INS)—President Truman greeted Davy Jones on his arrival aboard the Missouri tonight but only after a mix-up in lines that made the 1,800 members of the crew hilarious.

The stage was all set for tomorrow's traditional trial of Pollywogs—including President Truman and his family—before the court of King Neptune.

President Truman, accused of being a Democrat, Mrs. Truman, their daughter Margaret and all others who have never sailed across the equator, must be judged by the king of the sea before being transformed into Shellbacks.

Another charge against the President is that he uses an airplane instead of ships for travel.

Robert Zellers, Flushing, New York, a chief machinist's mate got his lines twisted.

He read Truman's line and shouted into the microphone, "Welcome aboard, Davy Jones" to the roars and merriment of the crew members.

Truman Witnesses Episode Of The Sea

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN ABOARD THE U.S.S. MISSOURI, Sept. 10 (AP)—President Truman witnessed a stirring episode of the sea today as this mighty battleship dispatched aid to a stricken seaman aboard a merchant ship 165 miles away.

The freighter, Del Sol, formerly known as the Cape Juby and operated by the Mississippi Shipping Company of New Orleans, sent a distress call reporting that a 26-year-old seaman, Charles A. Scott, Egermont, Miss., was suffering blood poisoning from an infected hand.

The message said the seaman had a temperature of 104.2 degrees.

Within 10 minutes after the distress signal was received, the Missouri's skipper, Capt. Robert L. Dennison, had transferred a ship's doctor to an escort destroyer for the dash to the freighter.

Europe Needs Aid This Year, Marshall Says

All But Sounds Call For Congress Session

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 — (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall declared today that some European countries will need American help this year "to meet the immediate threat of intolerable hunger and cold." He indicated that such help could not be given without a special session of Congress, possibly in late October or November.

But Marshall stopped short of saying in so many words that a special session would have to be called, declaring that he had not made up his mind on any details of the emergency aid program.

In a news conference, Marshall also gave the following information on foreign affairs:

Goes To New York Friday

1. He will go to New York Friday night to head the American delegation at the United Nations Assembly meeting opening Tuesday.

2. The American government is "gratified" at the formation of a coalition government in Greece which brings the Liberal and Populist parties into a single cabinet.

3. The United States is considering its next move in the Korean situation as a result of Russia's rejection Sunday of an invitation to attend a four-power conference here on ways of restoring Korean unity and independence. Meantime talks with China and Britain, which agreed to the American invitation, have been postponed.

The Secretary of State, himself, opened the discussion of the European economic crisis by reading a statement. He said there are two phases to the problem of helping to rehabilitate Europe.

The first one is "some form of interim assistance to meet the immediate threat of intolerable hunger and cold."

Marshall Plan Is Second Phase

The second is "the general program for rehabilitation of the respective economies" of European countries — the project generally known as the Marshall plan.

The question of stop-gap aid has become "more immediate," Marshall said, due to the severity of last winter, bad droughts, increasing crop shortages and "restrictive financial measures which certain European governments have already been obliged to take."

He then explained that by late October the government will have basic information on the situation. This will enable congressional supplies of food and fuel for the coming winter where it can be shown "that every effort has been made locally to meet the critical needs."

12-Point Program To Boost Ruhr's Coal Production Is Announced By U.S., Britain

FOILED PLOT — University of Paris student and former United States Army Air Forces flyer, Reginald F. M. Gilbert (above), St. Louis, Mo., is credited with French police in foiling an alleged plot to "bomb" London. Gilbert agreed to pilot a plane for the Jewish underground but informed French police of the plan.

Will Share Control Of Mine Operations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The United States and Britain announced tonight a 12-point program to increase German coal production.

It gives the American government an equal voice with the British in running the Ruhr mines.

At the same time it gives the Germans the entire responsibility for actual coal production.

The agreement is the product of nearly a month of detailed discussion here.

Undersecretary of War William Draper told reporters at a joint British-American news conference that he hoped the new accord will make it possible to step up coal production to the prewar level of 400,000 tons daily by the end of next year.

Output At Postwar High

Coal output in the Ruhr now stands at 244,000 tons daily, a new high since the end of the war.

The detailed agreement means the end of the strictly British control of North German coal which has been in effect since Germany's surrender.

Management of the mines now will rest with German technical and policy making officials. A joint British-American board, however, will have the power to veto any decision or policy which it does not like.

Here are the main "recommendations" agreed upon by the negotiators:

1. Expenditures of about $25,000,000 by a joint British-American agency to import steel and other mine supplies and equipment needed for expanded production. About $15,000,000 of this will be used to buy 100,000 tons of American steel.

2. Appointment by the American zone commander in Germany of a United States official to act as a joint chairman of the present all-British coal board pending the formation of the new Anglo-American control panel.

Larger Food Stockpiles

3. Increasing food stockpiles "particularly in the Ruhr and in the large cities" in both British and American zones so as to insure the "punctual honoring of the full 1,550 calorie program for the Germans."

4. Increased use of trucks and river barges to haul coal, thus lessening the burden of the inadequate German railway facilities.

5. Establishment of the "highest practicable" priority on steel and other materials needed to keep transportation equipment in working condition.

6.—Faster delivery of pit-wood from the merged zone and also the Soviet-occupied areas of Germany which formerly produced most of the mine props.

7. "Serious consideration" of an immediate increase in the price of coal sold within Germany. The price of coal exported to other countries was increased recently to about $15 a ton.

Russia Rejects U.N. Atom Report And Assails U.S.

"Trust" Charge Is Denied By Osborn

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 10—(AP)—Russia charged today that the United States is attempting to create a world atomic trust and dictate its atomic will on all nations. The United States denied the accusation as "false."

For 35 minutes Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, hurled charge after charge against the United States in the bitterest speech yet heard in any United Nations atomic energy organization.

He rejected the second report of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, which was up for final action, as "completely inacceptable." He said the United States was trying to "undermine" attempts to achieve unanimous agreement on atomic control while at the same time voicing "high sounding" phrases for harnessing the atom.

Adjourns Without Vote

The commission adjourned until tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) without a vote on the report.

In a statement to newsmen, the United States representative, Frederick H. Osborn, called the Soviet accusations, in effect, "old stuff." Osborn said:

"The accusations made by Mr. Gromyko were in my opinion false.

"False statements are not made true by their repetition and this repetition has been going on for the past 12 months.

"A careful perusal of the records of the meetings of the commission and its committees will reveal the intense and active co-operation of the representatives of 10 and even 11 nations in the development of the proposals now before the commission.

Record Speaks For Itself

"That record speaks for itself and anyone interested in the facts can read it and draw his own conclusions."

A United States spokesman said Osborn would ignore the Russian speech tomorrow in his comment on the report.

AFL Calls Russia Threat To Peace

CHICAGO, Sept. 10. (INS)—The 15-man Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor lashed out at Russia today and termed that nation "a threat to world peace."

The council, representing 7½ million workers, demanded the United States end its "do-nothing" policy and take the initiative in smoothing difficulties between the two nations.

The AFL blast, issued through President William Green, was approved unanimously by council members.

Executive council members hinted that new demands for pay increases may be sought as prices continued to rise.

The top officers stated:

"Unless the cost of living is promptly reduced and stabilized, pressure for higher wages is certain to mount."

President Green said price control was "impractical." He said his remedy for inflation was increased production.

Green listed a three-point anti-inflationary program:

1. Revision of foreign export commitment;

2. Encouragement of increased agricultural and industrial production;

3. Expansion of transportation facilities to move increased production.

Expressman Arrested In Death Of Woman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — A 36-year-old expressman was held without bond today for a hearing on charges of slaying Mrs. Theodore J. Rowell, 35, telephone operator, found dead in bed at their home today.

The man, Nixon McGuire, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Needham S. Turnage, who deferred a hearing until Monday to permit a coroner's inquest.

Detective Sergeant Emmett P. Talbot said McGuire walked into a police station early today and reported he had found Mrs. Rowell dead in bed, clad in a slip, one eye blackened and her face swollen.

Head Of World Bank Questions Loan Efficacy

McCloy Rules Out "Stop-Gap" Credit

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—John J. McCloy, American president of the World Bank, said tonight that Americans were still willing to lend Europe money for "productive purposes" but were beginning to question whether dollar loans were the answer to Europe's problems.

His statement came as British leaders worked on a dollar-saving program of further curtailment in the military forces and plugged away with prospects of success at the industry-crippling Yorkshire coal strike—two phases of an economic situation which Winston Churchill said threatened "a winter of privation more severe than any we endured during the war."

"Flood Of Bad News"

In an address prepared for BBC broadcast, McCloy said Americans were "faced with a constant flood of bad news—economic and political—some of it exaggerated, but all of it bad" so that "the impression exists that even the $3,750,000,000 loan to England—a sizeable sum by any calculation—has had so little beneficial effect on the situation that it has put in doubt the efficacy of all loans."

The World Bank president—here for the annual meeting of the board of directors of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and International Monetary Fund—also ruled out, at a news conference, the possibility that bank loans might be obtained as a stop gap for purchase of food and other consumer goods until some kind of Marshall plan is effective.

"I think you can say that we are not in the stop-gap business," he told a questioner.

McCloy explained that the International Bank was for the purpose of stimulating long-term international investments for productive purposes and would have to give increasing attention to Latin America, Asia, Africa and the Middle East, aside from Europe.

Meanwhile a "face-saving" solution appeared in prospect for the coal strike.

Back-To-Work Move Proposed

A National Union of Mine Workers official proposed that the Grimethorpe miners go back to work to prevent further deterioration of the pit and restore "normal conditions." Leading collierymen said the announcement was "a way out of the deadlock," because the miners could go back to work, but not at digging coal, without violating their pledge not to resume production until the union and the National Coal Board rescinded an order for them to work a larger daily "stint." At the same time a special committee appointed by the union and the board could begin investigating the diggers' complaints without violating their undertaking not to do so until work was resumed.

The walkout of the Grimethorpe men at one time involved sympathy walkouts at about 50 pits and 60,000 miners and has cost Britain 450,000 tons of coal. About 38 pits and 40,000 men were affected today.

Result Of Pa. Election Hailed By Republicans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The Republican high command today sized up a GOP victory in a special congressional election in Pennsylvania as an omen for 1948 while a top Democrat said the result was "not surprising" in a "district historically Republican."

In Pennsylvania's Eighth District, complete returns from yesterday's balloting gave a 17,602 vote plurality to Republican Franklin H. Lichtenwalter over Democrat Phil H. Storch. The district has been Republican since 1936 and has 73,000 registered Republicans and 46,000 Democrats.

Lichtenwalter supported the Taft-Hartley labor law; Storch urged repeal.

Expensive Stop

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 10 — (AP) — Truck Driver Willie Armstead stopped quickly to avoid hitting a stray horse.

His truck turned over and killed three milk cows he was hauling.

The horse also was killed.

PLAY HOUSE HOME—Mr. and Mrs. Clay Heady moved into their new home at St. Joseph, Mo., this week — a child's play house 6½ by 8½ feet. A friend, Henry Bruckspen, offered them the use of the small house belonging to his daughter, Stacia, 6, when they were unable to obtain other quarters. Stacia's dog, Bingo, accustomed to sleeping in the house, refused to leave. Mrs. Heady stands near the doorway to their new home with Bingo.

Still Higher Food Prices Predicted; Incomes Soar To New Record Rate

20 Billion Dollars Ahead Of Last Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—(AP)—Personal incomes soared in July to a new record rate of $197,000,000,000 a year.

The Commerce Department reported the increase today. It said the rate was $2,000,000,000 over that in June and $20,000,000,000 ahead of last year.

If the rate keeps up for 11 more months:

1. The government would collect more taxes than the $41,667,000,000 President Truman foresaw in forecasting a $4,667,000,000 surplus in the treasury for the fiscal year that began July 1.

Qualifying Point Made

2. Personal incomes would top by $5,400,000,000 the presidential estimated of $191,600,000,000.

An increase on that scale ordinarily would boost government revenues more than $1,500,000,000. But officials made these qualifying points:

Continuance of the July level cannot be counted "in the bag."

Because of a time lag in tax collections, an increase in the size of the tax base is not reflected immediately in higher tax receipts. A gain in receipts may spread over two or three years.

Higher farm income, increased wages and salaries and payment of state bonuses to veterans were responsible for increased personal income in July.

$121,500,000,000 Rate

Wages and salaries, the biggest single item of personal income, were at an annual rate of $121,500,000,000 during July. Net income of farm and business owners and landlords was the second largest at an annual rate of $48,200,000,000.

Personal income also includes dividends and interest on securities, as well as relief payments.

The Commerce Department said increased wages and salaries resulted from "a further rise in trade payrolls, negotiated wage rate increases for bituminous coal miners and the continued expansion of construction employment."

Congress Called "Dumb"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 — (AP) — Rep. Rich (R-Pa.) today called Congress "dumb" for passing the 1944 War Contracts Settlement Act. At the same time the General Accounting Office reported that in auditing these settlements it had found nine more cases of suspected "fraud".

JEALOUS WIFE WON'T LET HUSBAND LISTEN TO WOMEN ON RADIO

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP) — A husband today filed a divorce suit which accused his 43-year-old wife of being so jealous that she forbids him to listen to radio programs using female voices.

The suit was filed in Superior Court by Gilbert Johnson, 38, a sales representative, against his wife, Esther. He charged in his suit that she also forbids him to read newspaper articles pertaining to women.

"Ike" Deplores "Draft Ike" Move

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declined today to say whether he would run for President if nominated, though he "deplored" the organization of "Draft Eisenhower" groups.

Speaking of these groups at a crowded news conference, he expressed "sincere hope no one will be attracted into spending his hard earned dollars or time on this."

But as the retiring Army Chief of Staff spoke, a fellow Kansan Alf M. Landon, made the assertion that Eisenhower will be a factor in the 1948 Republican presidential convention unless he definitely "takes himself out of the picture."

Landon, the 1936 GOP nominee, said in a letter responding to a question of Newspaper Columnist Raymond Moley about Eisenhower's chances that if he runs it will not be for the Democratic nomination; and if he runs Kansas will support him.

Eisenhower was asked about the Landon letter and he answered that he is not aware of it. He said he doesn't know what Landon's ideas are.

"I've told people that when I get through being a soldier there is something else I want to do. I honestly don't want to do anything else," the General said. This evidently referred to his plans to take the presidency of Columbia University. He was asked when this will be and "guessed" it will be in late winter or early spring.

More than 30 reporters were on hand for the conference, an unusual number.

Dozen Bodies Recovered In River Boat Explosion

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 10 (INS)—Six more victims of the explosion and fire which destroyed the river excursion boat "Island Queen" at her wharf in Pittsburgh were recovered today, raising the known death toll to 12.

Firemen searching the scarred ruins said 11 members of the crew still are missing. All are believed to have perished in the holocaust.

Thus the probable death toll will be around 23.

Egypt Case Put Aside

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Security Council put the British-Egyptian dispute aside indefinitely tonight after the failure of a new attempt by China to find an acceptable solution.

Smallest Corn Crop Since 1936 Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Still higher food prices were predicted by government officials today as the Agriculture Department estimated that the badly-damaged corn crop will total only 2,403,913,000 bushels, smallest yield since the 1936 drought year.

This is about 27 per cent under last year's crop of 3,287,927,000 bushels. Today's forecast, based on conditions as of September 1, compares with an estimate of 2,437,000,000 bushels made on August 15.

On the other hand, today's monthly crop report estimated that the amount of wheat yielded by the nation's farms will be the greatest in history—1,408,602,000 bushels.

Even before the department issued its report telling of the effects of bad growing weather on the corn crop, corn and hog prices on primary markets spurted to new all-time highs. (Hogs are dependent in large part on corn).

Pork Sells For $31 Per 100

Pork on the hoof sold at $31 a hundred pounds at Sioux City and $30.75 at Omaha. Corn sold at $2.64¼ a bushel in Chicago for September delivery and oats at $1.23½.

Agriculture Department economists ruled out any possibility of a general decline in retail food prices for the nation's consumer.

The short corn crop, they said, will be reflected ultimately in higher prices for meat, poultry and dairy products.

The lack of corn to feed cattle, hogs and chickens to marketable weights will force farmers to use millions of bushels of wheat for their animals instead of selling it on the market.

Some officials foresee that 400,000,000 bushels will be used for feed this winter and in the spring.

Congress Would Have To Revise Lend-Lease

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Government officials said tonight the Marshall plan to aid Europe might have some aspects of lend-lease in it by the time it is finally developed.

But, these officials said, that if Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin suggested reviving lend-lease as a speedy means of providing help to Europe before Congress convenes, he is wrong.

Probe Of Fontana Loan All Right With Kaiser

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (INS)—Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser tonight challenged a House Executive Expenditures Subcommittee to make an immediate investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's loan to the Fontana Steel Company in California.

Kaiser, angered by a declaration by Rep. Rich (R) Pa., that he would ask for a congressional investigation if the RFC reduces the debt on the 95 million dollar Fontana steel works, telegraphed Subcommittee Chairman Bender (R) Ohio:

"Far from opposing Rep. Rich's proposal, I urge you to call the investigation.

"But I urge that instead of waiting until the RFC may have acted on the Fontana proposal you call the investigation immediately."

Says It Would Assist Europe To Regain Feet

Reference Is Both Brief And Cryptic

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin, who called on the United States a week ago to distribute its $22,000,000,000 Fort Knox gold hoard throughout the world, recommended tonight the revival of wartime American lease-lend to eliminate the chaos of European economic conditions.

"I do not mind whether it is lease-lend or that," Bevin told a group of visiting American Legionnaires, referring to his proposal to redistribute "the Fort Knox gold."

"But all I say is this—that you can't get settlement in the world unless we get these economic conditions right."

Bevin's reference to the revival of lease-lend, the economic operation by which the United States helped finance and equip the Allied armies and navies during World War II, was as brief and cryptic as his September 3 proposal concerning the American gold stocks—a proposal which puzzled economists and government officials on both sides of the Atlantic.

It never was explained whether Bevin was speaking literally or symbolically about the Fort Knox gold and it was not determined until some time afterward that the Bevin gold idea was not to be connected in any way with the Marshall proposal for American aid for European reconstruction.

Bevin's short address to Past National Commander Paul Griffith and 135 Legionnaires on a tour of European war cemeteries followed by only a few hours a radio address here by John J. McCloy, American president of the World Bank, who declared that Americans were willing to lend Europe money for "productive purposes," but were beginning to question whether dollar loans were the answer to Europe's problems.

Bevin made an emphatic declaration to the Americans that Great Britain would pull through her current economic crisis.

Newspaper, Warned Against Using Lottery Stories, Defies Postmaster

[By The Associated Press]

Taken to task by a postmaster for publishing a story about the negro temporarily denied an automobile he won in a lottery, the St. Louis Star-Times served notice yesterday it would continue to publish such reports.

The Baltimore Sunpapers executives also have been "cautioned" because the Sun carried a story about a drawing conducted by the City of Peoria, Ill. Sunpapers executives said they had not yet decided on a future policy.

Postoffice officials in Washington said warnings like those to the Star-Times and Sunpapers are routine. They disclaimed any "campaign" against newspapers carrying lottery stories.

They pointed, however, to a law forbidding the mailing of publications carrying lottery advertisements or news about prizes. While they could recall no prosecutions of newspapers in recent years under the law, they said they would have no choice but to go to court if papers persisted in deliberately violating the law.

In St. Louis, the Star-Times said in an editorial it intends to keep on publishing such stories as the account of a North Carolina negro who won a Cadillac car in a lottery last July. The negro was first denied the prize on the ground that the drawing was only for white participants, but he subsequently received payment equivalent to the automobile.

St. Louis Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann cautioned the Star-Times that publication of the story violated the postal fraud and lottery law.

Dickmann said the newspaper would have been barred from the mails if publication of the story had been noted at the time.

To this, the Star-Times replied: "It is not a free press when any public agency attempts to tell a newspaper that it cannot inform the public of discrimination against a negro because of his race."

And the editorial, carried as an open letter to the Postmaster, added:

"A newspaper which believes in freedom, practices it."

Hilarity Reigns Aboard Missouri; President Will Be "Tried" Today

ABOARD USS MISSOURI, Sept. 10—(INS)—President Truman greeted Davy Jones on his arrival aboard the Missouri tonight but only after a mix-up in lines that made the 1,800 members of the crew hilarious.

The stage was all set for tomorrow's traditional trial of Pollywogs—including President Truman and his family—before the court of King Neptune.

President Truman, accused of being a Democrat, Mrs. Truman, their daughter Margaret and all others who have never sailed across the equator, must be judged by the king of the sea before being transformed into Shellbacks.

Another charge against the President is that he uses an airplane instead of ships for travel.

Robert Zellers, Flushing, New York, a chief machinist's mate got his lines twisted.

He read Truman's line and shouted into the microphone, "Welcome aboard, Davy Jones" to the roars and merriment of the crew members.

The show welcoming Neptune's advance agent, wearing the customary black-patch over one eye and accompanied by other piratical figures, took place on the famous "surrender" deck of the battleship which is bringing President Truman back home.

Truman Witnesses Episode Of The Sea

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN ABOARD THE U.S.S. MISSOURI, Sept. 10 (AP)—President Truman witnessed a stirring episode of the sea today as this mighty battleship dispatched aid to a stricken seaman aboard a merchant ship 165 miles away.

The freighter, Del Sol, formerly known as the Cape Juby and operated by the Mississippi Shipping Company of New Orleans, sent a distress call reporting that a 26-year-old seaman, Charles A. Scott, Egermont, Miss., was suffering blood poisoning from an infected hand.

The message said the seaman had a temperature of 104.2 degrees.

Within 10 minutes after the distress signal was received, the Missouri's skipper, Capt. Robert L. Dennison, had transferred a ship's doctor to an escort destroyer for the dash to the freighter.

Man Seeks $2,500 For Fall In Store

No details were given in the document, but Ryan said the suit is for damages resulting from injuries his client suffered when he stepped on a piece of material and slipped on the floor of one of the firm's local stores. Schrock claims severe injuries to his back and Ryan said he will ask $2,500 damages.

Two suits for divorce were docketed. Thomas M. Llewellyn filed suit against Marjorie A. Llewellyn, and Etta Lewis filed a bill of complaint against James M. Lewis.

Revenue Increases For W. Md. Railway

The Western Maryland Railway reported that the gross revenues for the company during August were 16 per cent over the amount reported for the same month last year.

Revenue for August was approximately $3,658,000 as compared to $3,164,766 last year. The figure was the best total since the revenue for May this year, which was $3,715,039.

Largest gain in August occurred in coal and coke freight receipts which totaled approximately $1,830,000 and increased 21 per cent over the previous year. Other freight receipts of $1,667,000 were twelve per cent above the 1946 total.

For the first eight months of 1947 gross operating revenues were estimated at $27,400,000, as compared with $20,650,007 for the similar period of last year—an increase of 33 per cent.

Coal and coke revenues accounted for around $13,068,000 in the 1947 period, rising 37 per cent over $9,538,334 a year earlier. Other freight revenues were put at $12,988,000, up 31 per cent from the 1946 level of $9,918,054.

Net income thus far reported for 1947 showed a wide gain over last year. For seven months the company cleared $2,837,632 after all charges. This was equal to $15.99 a share on the first preferred stock, which is in arrears as to dividends. For the corresponding period a year earlier, net income was $1,059,143, or $5.97 a share on the senior preferred.

Local Man Receives Dental Job In Japan

James G. Sowers, 305 Greene Street, will report tomorrow morning to the Pentagon Building, Washington, from where he will leave Saturday for the Seattle Port of Embarkation.

Sowers, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Sowers, passed a Civil Service test several months ago as a dental technician. He will be assigned as a civilian with the Eighth Army in Japan.

During World War II he served 14 months in the Army Medical Corps. Since then he has been associated with his father as a dental technician.

Potomac Park Group Views Utility Problems

Some progress is being made in requests of the Potomac Park Improvement Association for reduced telephone rates, J. Milton Dick, president of the group said yesterday. Officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company have been contacted and said rate adjustments, which are higher in the area than in other sections of the county, are being considered.

At the weekly meeting of the organization, it was also reported that the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company is completing plans for laying 5,000 feet of new gas line into the Fairgo section below McMullen Highway. Residents of Fairgo are also affiliated with the Potomac Park group. The gas company has promised, Dick said, to have the new lines installed before cold weather.

The sewage problem was also discussed at the meeting and various methods of raising funds for a sewage system were discussed. The association made plans to hold a fair and square dance at the Jockey Club at Fairgo during the first week in October, as the first of a series of activities for fund raising.

For the first eight months of 1947 gross operating revenues were estimated at $27,400,000, as compared with $20,650,007 for the similar period of last year—an increase of 33 per cent.

Coal and coke revenues accounted for around $13,068,000 in the 1947 period, rising 37 per cent over $9,538,334 a year earlier. Other freight revenues were put at $12,988,000, up 31 per cent from the 1946 level of $9,918,054.

Net income thus far reported for 1947 showed a wide gain over last year. For seven months the company cleared $2,837,632 after all charges. This was equal to $15.99 a share on the first preferred stock, which is in arrears as to dividends. For the corresponding period a year earlier, net income was $1,059,143, or $5.97 a share on the senior preferred.

Local Man Receives Dental Job In Japan

James G. Sowers, 305 Greene Street, will report tomorrow morning to the Pentagon Building, Washington, from where he will leave Saturday for the Seattle Port of Embarkation.

Sowers, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Sowers, passed a Civil Service test several months ago as a dental technician. He will be assigned as a civilian with the Eighth Army in Japan.

During World War II he served 14 months in the Army Medical Corps. Since then he has been associated with his father as a dental technician.

If a man breathed pure oxygen all the time he would die.

Potomac Park Group Views Utility Problems

Some progress is being made in requests of the Potomac Park Improvement Association for reduced telephone rates, J. Milton Dick, president of the group said yesterday. Officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company have been contacted and said rate adjustments, which are higher in the area than in other sections of the county, are being considered.

At the weekly meeting of the organization, it was also reported that the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company is completing plans for laying 5,000 feet of new gas line into the Fairgo section below McMullen Highway. Residents of Fairgo are also affiliated with the Potomac Park group. The gas company has promised, Dick said, to have the new lines installed before cold weather.

The sewage problem was also discussed at the meeting and various methods of raising funds for a sewage system were discussed. The association made plans to hold a fair and square dance at the Jockey Club at Fairgo during the first week in October, as the first of a series of activities for fund raising.

Soap Box Derby Hailed By Germans

BERLIN — (AP) — The "soap box derby" has made its debut in Germany.

Ten thousands spectators turned out at Ulm, in Wuerttemberg-Baden, to see 83 German boys race their little cars over a 1½ mile course. The racers, aged four to 15 years, competed for 30 prizes in the event organized by their community youth committee.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Europe's Plight Made Worse By Nature's Actions

Nature in many countries has defeated man in his fight against hunger, just as General Weather during the war was often more important than man's plans and weapons. The latest report of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization shows that the world's grain harvest is disastrously bad.

This blow follows European reports of lower coal production. With food and fuel the twin necessities of all foreign relief and rehabilitation, these shortages mean the world will suffer even more during the coming year than in the grim year which preceded this harvest. Part of the crop damage is due to the severe European winter—the worst in 50 years. The big freeze was followed by floods. Then came the drought—in some countries the longest in a century. In Europe this grain harvest is only 58 per cent of pre-war average.

The decline in the world's major food surplus countries is especially serious. In Canada the wheat harvest is down. In the United States the corn crop has taken such a weather beating that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson says there must be export cuts.

While it is too early for crop estimates from Argentina and Australia, the other two grain surplus countries, the U. N. agency predicts that total grain exports of the Big Four granaries will be only 29,000,000 tons. The amount needed to maintain present subnormal rations is 38,000,000 tons.

The exceptions to bad harvests seem to be in eastern Europe, where Soviet-controlled statistics are unreliable. Both Russia and her Yugoslav satellite claim bumper crops. If they have exportable surpluses, these will be used for political purposes and pressures if the past is a criterion.

It can not be denied that the world's greatest need puts an added burden on the United States. The effect of worse food shortages on the Marshall Plan and all other efforts at European reconstruction is obvious. Miners and factory workers do not produce more on empty bellies. Hunger is the biggest ally of Bolshevism.

Among several lines of action to meet the world food shortage, three seems to us imperative. Americans, Canadians, Argentinians and Australians must consume less and share more. Export surpluses must be regulated more carefully, with priority give to the people who prove they can stop leaks. Britain is one of the few countries without a flourishing black market in food. The American zone in Germany is one of the worst examples.

Proper allocation of the limited export surplus should be made to save dwindling dairy herds and animal brood stock and to provide more seed grain for next season.

It is also true that it is impossible to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear that has been converted into sausage.

Revolt Against Long Skirts Gains A Member

A custom dress designer for a store which carries weight in the world of fashion has joined the revolt against long skirts, padded hips and squeezing corsets, and she is worth a whole battalion. She is Sophie of Saks Fifth Avenue, and she really counts. In private life she is the wife of the stores president, Adam Gimbel.

"I do not believe that we will return to the 18th and 19th century idea of feminine beauty," says Sophie.

"I do not believe in a mechanically hippy look. . . . I do not believe in over-corseting. . . . I do not believe that the active modern woman wants to hamper herself in the daytime with calf-length skirts."

We agree with Sophie. Her decision in favor of suits 15 inches from the ground, and dress skirts 14 to 13 inches, depending on height and cut of the garment, is sensible. It would permit many women to alter last year's garments instead of discarding them.

In this era of high prices and world-wide shortages, its almost criminal to force women to discard garments that are still serviceable. We speak with great conviction—as a husband who pays the bills.

Moreover, the Little Lady bought one new garment of the long skirt variety. It added at least 10 years to her appearance. We've noticed the same thing in the case of other women.

We get old fast enough. Why speed it up by a style which adds ten birthdays the minute it is adopted.

Los Angeles announces its sidewalks have reached the saturation point. The situation might be less critical if so many pedestrians weren't saturated.

China Reacts

The reactions of opposing sides in China's civil war to General Wedemeyer's statement on the situation were peculiar. The report was sharply critical of the faults of the Chiang government and found fault with the Chinese communists only for their use of force to attain their ends.

Such a report might normally be expected to evoke indignant protests from the government. The communists, for their part, might have been expected to protest mildly that they were using force only in "self-defense"—both sides in every war say that—and then to say: "See—the Americans admit that the government we are fighting to overthrow is a brutal tyranny!"

But it didn't happen that way. Chiang showed no resentment at Wedemeyer's statement. His government did point out "errors" in the report, but praised its "frank and friendly" spirit. The Chinese communists denounced it violently, charging that it showed the United States was seeking territory and dominion in China.

These abnormal reactions indicate that there is more to the report than meets the eye. Both sides evidently feel that it foreshadows a new American policy aimed at ending the civil war. Chiang apparently wants it ended. The communists want to go on fighting.

From these reactions it is possible to hazard a guess as to what may be expected next. Chiang evidently intends at least to try to reform his government to meet Wedemeyer's criticisms. In return, he will expect American aid against the communists if the latter reject any truce to be offered on the basis of those reforms.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DELAYED BLADDER CONTROL

PARENTS of children with enuresis (bedwetting) are entitled to sympathy as the condition is one of the most trying problems of childhood. It is disagreeable from a hygienic standpoint, as well as a source of worry.

On the other hand, the fault does not always rest with the youngster, for frequently the mother or father is to blame. The adult may forget that voluntary control of urination is a feat all of us must learn. It can be classified with other accomplishments such as crawling, walking, or talking. Every one does not acquire these skills with the same rate of speed. Hence mother dismisses the fact that the boy does not walk at the end of the year by saying that he is slow but will not give the same explanation if bedwetting continues. Instead, she fears the worst and has visions of a defective offspring or at least one who will not grow up like others.

Children learn to regulate the bladder during the waking hours with much greater ease than while sleeping. This takes time and three years may elapse before the youngster is successful in remaining dry thru the night. Impatience, blame, and punishment only bewilders the child at this stage and makes it difficult for him to cooperate. If the habit persists, however, a physician must be consulted because infection or a defect in the kidneys or bladder may exist. Occasionally diabetes is present.

An examination of this type must be thoro and include more than a study of the urine. If no physical cause is discovered the situation can be handled in a variety of ways. A psychosomatic disturbance is sometimes responsible. There may be a subconscious desire on the part of the child to return to the protected, irresponsible state of infancy. Others crave the attention that is being lavished upon the younger brothers or sisters.

Some hold resentments against their parents and bedwetting helps to "get even" for criticisms, making them eat certain foods, or denying liberties. Now and then, such conflicts are evident but all too often the help of a psychiatrist is needed to detect them. If it can be determined that a psychic factor is the basis for the disorder, there is little use in taking drugs, changing the diet, or withholding liquid.

But before such expert advice is sought it is advisable to try the simple tricks. By teaching daytime control a habit pattern may be established which is carried on into the night. Waking the youngster at various intervals not only saves the linen but encourages control of the bladder. Restriction of the fluid intake after 4 p. m. is of benefit occasionally, but in many instances merely delays the time that bedwetting will occur.

Drugs are available altho many are of questionable value. More recently several glandular products have been advocated. One, an extract made from the pituitary gland, has been helpful in some instances. Testosterone has also been recommended, especially when the trait is hereditary. In one report, 59 out of 75 were cured by this method. At the present time it is difficult to evaluate the plan, but some physicians believe it deserves further trial.

NO SPINACH

Mrs. W. writes: Our 2 year old son is healthy and active but he won't eat vegetables. We have tried everything to induce him but he just won't take them. Our doctor told us not to worry. Can you make any suggestions.

REPLY

If the boy is healthy in all respects, why not let him alone for the present? Sometimes forcing a food at an early age leaves an overlasting impression so that he will never want to eat vegetables.

DISTORTED SHAPE

Mrs. W. writes: My grandchild went to the doctor for glasses and he said her eyes were shaped like basketballs instead of footballs. What can be done?

REPLY

Distortions of this type are known as "keratoconus" or "conical cornea." They can be rectified with contact lenses altho in some persons, special strong, concave spherocylinders are effective.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Dollar Day at the Treasury Department. Yes sir, last week eight million veterans were given the opportunity to cash in their terminal leave bonds. It was a sort of "take it or leave it" with dog tags.

All this money was certainly a boon to the veterans. In fact, five thousand of them got together and paid off the mortgage on a quonset hut.

It was easy to get the money. All they had to do was present their terminal leave bonds, show their discharges, get in line at the bank and peel two million potatoes. I knew the vets were there to get money. They had a girl on each arm and a finance man as chaperone.

One Pfc. didn't have much furlough time coming, but that didn't discourage him—he just stepped up to the teller's window, threw out his chest and said, "I'll take it in stamps."

I couldn't understand why the bank was giving the money out in nickels. Then I saw the slot machine in the corner. The line was so long, it extended around two blocks. Of course, there weren't only G. I.'s in the line. Between each two veterans there was a used car dealer.

But it was wonderful of the government to give out all this money to the boys. They really need it. If they're lucky, it'll be just about enough to pay off their income taxes.

NOW THAT THERE ARE NO LOG CABINS FOR OUR PRESIDENTS TO BE BORN IN

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—It now looks as if charming, go-getting Ed Pauley, the California oil men who has long aspired to be Undersecretary of the Navy, is about to slide into an even better job.

No man in all the turbulent days of Trumanism created such a rumpus as Ed Pauley when, last winter, his Naval ambitions were abruptly stopped by "The Old Curmudgeon," Secretary of the Interior Ickes. It caused Icke's exit from the Cabinet and Pauley's name to be withdrawn.

The Republicans, however, were extremely happy. They were able to hold their noses over the smell of oil and point to the fact that Democratic Treasurer Pauley had raised several hundred thousand from oil men to elect Truman. Also they were able to block Truman's reward to the old man who not only raised money, but ran back and forth like a squirrel between the platform and the floor of the Democratic Chicago convention buttonholing delegates for Truman.

Pauley's pal who sponsored him for Undersecretary of the Navy was the Secretary of the Navy himself, Jim Forrestal. Today Forrestal sits as top dog over the entire Army and Navy. So the ways are all greased for Ed to slide into the new national defense setup. In fact, he has already started sliding.

Pauley has now been given a quiet job alongside Secretary of War Kenneth Royall. Very little is said about it, but the oleaginous Ed has an office close to Royall's and is doing part of the work ordinarily done by the Undersecretary of War.

Furthermore, the new Undersecretary of War, Gen William Draper, is handling the job of the Assistant Secretary, not the Undersecretary. And since Draper is a Dillon, Read Banker—the firm once headed by Secretary of National Defense Forrestal—it should be an easy matter, when the time is ripe, for Forrestal to shift Draper back to Wall Street, and Ed Pauley in as Undersecretary.

Pauley's present assignment is informal, does not need Senate confirmation. But after he has been there a few months, Senators are likely to be lenient toward a man who is on the job and can say that he is working his way up.

Moral: In politics the hand is sometimes quicker than the eye.

Merry-Go-Round

The admirals are up in arms over plans of Defense Secretary Forrestal to move the Navy into the War Department's Pentagon Building. It means they will have to commute all the way to Virginia, and many of them live on the other side of town in Maryland . . . Virginia real estate is booming as a result . . . . Sec. Forrestal's office in the Pentagon Building will be that of the Undersecretary of War. Alongside it is Gen. B. B. Somervell's old office. But the irreverent Forrestal is now transforming this plush inner sanctum into a kitchen (he calls it a "galley"). There are about a dozen other private kitchens in the Pentagon, from any one of which Forrestal could get his food but he is having his own kitchen built instead . . . . Jimmy Roosevelt and Henry Wallace hatched private political medicine at an off-the-record luncheon this week . . . . Washington society is amused and fascinated by Helen Lombard's book "While They Fought" telling what the womenfolk did while their husbands were away.

Eisenhower Boom Booms

Two interesting things are happening to the Presidential boom of General Ike Eisenhower:

1. Ike himself is still playing down the boom, accepting no bows, refusing radio hook-ups; 2. Despite this, more and more big politicos are getting on Ike's bandwagon.

Eisenhower is scheduled to speak at the University of West Virginia in Morgantown, on Sept. 23, and President Irvin Stewart offered him a national radio hook-up to carry his speech to the country. Ike, however, refused. Then President Stewart proposed a local West Virginia radio broadcast. Again the chief of staff declined.

But whether he likes it or not, various political bigwigs are rapidly climbing aboard the Eisenhower bandwagon. Originators of the Eisenhower boom were ex-candidate Alf Landon of Kansas and rotund Roy Roberts, astute editor of the Kansas City Star.

Today, various other GOP big shots who don't like Dewey and who are afraid Taft has killed himself with the Taft-Hartley Act, are looking toward Eisenhower. Latest is the Sun Oil Company's Joe Pew of Pennsylvania, who has never liked Dewey, and who has just commissioned ex-Congressman Charles Hawkes of Wisconsin to take a political scouting tour. Hawkes has been ordered to talk up Eisenhower to GOP leaders throughout the country and start a grass-roots movement for the General.

Note—Only trouble with Joe Pew's support is that he's never picked a winning candidate yet—not even in GOP conventions.

No wonder Eisenhower is playing it modest.

Henry Wallace Pledge

Henry Wallace's latest third-party scare coincided with a strong backstage bid for liberal support. His former associate, C. B. Baldwin, circulated a form endorsement among liberal Senators and Congressmen, urging them to sign on the Henry Wallace bandwagon. Strongly worded, the mimeographed pledge declared:

"You (Wallace) are the true spokesman for the millions of liberals who are now uniting to demand a return to the program of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt . . . You are the logical leader for the new grouping of liberals which is now taking place spontaneously, whatever its eventual form may be. We pledge our support to you in the effort to restore liberalism to the domestic and foreign policy of the United States."

At the bottom was a blank line for the endorsing signature.

Even the most liberal Senators and Congressmen, however, are not biting. Most are ignoring Baldwin's letter or else returning the forms with a polite refusal.

Taft Speeches To Sharpen Race Between Him And Gov. Dewey

By MARK SULLIVAN

Senator Taft's series of speeches in the West, beginning next Friday, composes an essential part of the Republican Presidential situation for next year. This is true even though Mr. Taft says he will not formally decide whether to be a candidate for the Presidential nomination until this series of speech is concluded.

The Republican situation has gone so far toward crystallization with Senator Taft as a leading factor in it, that to take himself out now would be an affirmative act, almost a sensational one. It would be interpreted as not merely an act of Mr. Taft personally but an act of the Republican Party. Mr. Taft was the leader in making the legislative record of the first Republican Congress in thirteen years. That record composes the principal platform of the Republican bid for the Presidency next year.

If the leader who had most to do with making the legislative record should now decide that he does not want the Presidential nomination, after so long a taking for granted by the public that he would be a candidate for it, such a step would be interpreted as implying that neither Mr. Taft nor the party relish standing on the legislative record. For Mr. Taft to try for the nomination and lose to Mr. Dewey or any other, would be one thing. Declination of Mr. Taft to try for the nomination, coming at this stage, would be quite a different thing, unless there were persuasive and convincing reasons for it. Probably Mr. Taft's statement that he will decide at the conclusion of the coming series of speeches is largely a fixing of the time for launching his campaign in the formal sense.

A more likely consequence of Mr. Taft's coming speeches is to sharpen the race between him and Governor Dewey of New York, who are by far the leading possibilities.

No Clear Issue Between Them

At present there is no clear issue between them. Governor Dewey has formally approved universal military training. Less formally, Mr. Taft has disapproved it. In his coming speeches he is likely to define his position on this as on other public issues, that is mainly what this speechmaking tour is for. Even if there should arise a clear cleavage between the two men on universal military training, it remains to be seen whether enough of the public is emotionally stirred on this question, one way or the other, to make it decisive as between Mr. Taft and Mr. Dewey.

Likewise remaining to be seen is whether other issues arise between the two. Some are possible, of course, and Mr. Taft is so forthright a person that his coming speeches may give rise to issues. A conceivable difference, though hardly to be expected, is associated with the Taft-Hartley labor law, Mr. Taft is the author of that and of course will praise it. The Republican Party is certain to praise it. No doubt Mr. Dewey, as he moves toward the actual making of the Presidential nomination, will be called on to praise the Taft-Hartley law and likewise he no doubt will be completely willing.

Eisenhower In Possibility Status

It is practically unthinkable that he should let any phase of this become an issue between him and Mr. Taft. Attack on the Taft-Hartley law, with emphasis on President Truman's attempt to veto it, is certain to be a main position of the Democrats. This is already taking form. Hearty defense of the law is imposed on the Republicans even if they were reluctant. With or without an issue between them Mr. Taft and Mr. Dewey are the leading possibilities for the Republican nomination. At the present stage the two are relatively even in strength and so far in front that they are in a class apart, with others having, in differing degrees of elevation, the rank of possibilities in case neither of the two leaders wins. Among these is to be included General Eisenhower, for the nomination of whom there is a current wave of discussion, with other developments in the making. But so long as General Eisenhower continues to refrain from countenancing activity in his behalf, he remains in the status of a possibility dependent upon what may happen in the main race between Mr. Taft and Mr. Dewey.

There's More Than Meets Eye In Kaiser's Debt-Scaling Proposal

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—There's more than meets the eye in the proposal by Henry J. Kaiser that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation scale down by about $34,500,000 what he owes the government for a wartime steel plant in California.

There's a lesson in this fundamental economics. It bears directly on why steel producers today do not want to build more steel mills in the face of demands here and there from left-wingers that if plant capacity were increased prices could come down.

Mr. Kaiser built his plant under wartime costs. The older companies built most of their plants in prewar years when costs were low. It is estimated that these companies today would have to invest about $160 to $200 per unit as contrasted with about $40 to $50 which is the amount they carry as their unit plant costs in their existing capital structures.

Obviously prices must be higher in order to yield a fair return on a larger investment. Now Mr. Kaiser has an interesting idea. If the government will reduce his debt from about $90,000,000 where it will presently be to about $55,000,000—a cut of about $35,000,000—Mr. Kaiser will agree to expand his plant, and, by adding to steel making capacity, he thinks he can then reduce prices. This means that while the plant originally cost $123,000,000, a payment shortly to be made of $15,000,000 will make the government's recovery price a total of $88,000,000 as against the $123,000,000 originally loaned by the RFC.

Would Not Be Fixed Kaiser Debt

But the $55,000,000 which is to remain as a debt after the scaling down has been done would be payable over a period of 25 years and there would be placed above it in priority a first mortgage of $80,000,000. Only after these new bonds—floated to the public as a private financing operation—have some day been retired would the $55,000,000 become a fixed obligation of the Kaiser company. During the other years the RFC would be paid interest and installments on principal only if the company earned a profit above the needs of the first mortgage bonds.

Now the defense which Mr. Kaiser makes is that the U. S. Steel Corporation bought a wartime plant in Utah at about one-fifth of its cost when the government was selling surplus property and so Mr. Kaiser thinks he should be placed on the same footing as his competitors.

Theoretically if it is the function of the government to promote competition by subsidizing the weaker competitor, thus enabling the weaker to overcome the natural handicaps growing out of the financial position of the stronger units in an industry, then there is logic in Mr. Kaiser's proposal. Many a business man operating with inadequate capital would like to be able to scale down his debt or get a modern plant at the same costs as the competitor got theirs in past years if only the government would come in and equalize competition.

As a matter of fact, maybe the large steel producers today would gladly increase their plant capacity if someone would guarantee them a continuance of demand and if the government would undertake to pay now or reimburse them later for the difference between the high construction costs for new steel units today and the original cost of the units they built several years ago and on which their present price structure is based.

Would Make Success Simple

Business success would be a simple matter to achieve if the risks could be underwritten by the RFC or some other government agency. Yet Mr. Kaiser has a kind of logic on his side—he would like to compete against the older companies and furnish more steel and at lower prices if the government would regard his loan from the RFC as it recently regarded a piece of surplus property that it built for war purposes and sold to his competitors. The trouble, of course, is that the government had no use for the the steel plant it sold and was glad to get a fraction of the cost. Nobody else evidently was willing to pay any more than the U. S. Steel Corporation, either because the plant was not located in a convenient area or because it didn't fit in with the integrated operations of any other company. Mr. Kaiser's money, however, was borrowed directly as a private venture. If the RFC scales down one loan under these circumstances, it must face requests to scale down others. It's a tough nut for Mr. Kaiser to crack but nobody can blame him for not asking the RFC to help him crack it. There's certainly no harm in asking.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

NOW THAT David Lilienthal's Atomic Energy Commission has gone into the isotope business, using the frightening word "cancer" for public relations acceptance, I thought it a favorable moment to look over some wisdom on the atom.

The remarks which I cull were made in 1945 and 1946. In the heat of political battle, politicians make campaign statements which nobody takes seriously, not even the makers, but scientists are supposed to be objective persons who devote their lives to the search for truth. Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, one of the best of the lot, testifying before Congress, said:

". . . I don't know anything about the life of Russia, but if I were a Russian scientist and had this thing pulled as it was pulled, if I lived in a country which has just recently become one of the great powers and is very power sensitive and which has always prided itself on its science and on its technology, I would say: 'Boys, we had better get to it,' I think they will."

I do not know whether Dr. Oppenheimer expected them to go to it by science or theft. To date, the only evidence is theft.

Dr. Vannevar Bush went Freudian and told the members of Congress:

". . . One fear that I have is that someone, thinking that he had a new idea on this subject, might start experiments in an attic with the idea that he would develop a new commercial process, and the result might be that he developed so much radioactive energy from this fission process that he would sterilize, perhaps, all of the passers-by. That is entirely possible."

Dr. Leo Szilard made this point:

"With reference to secrets, let me say that clearly the biggest secret was given away with the use of the atomic bomb, because knowing that such a bomb can be made is half of the secret. . ."

The sage Albert Einstein pronounced:

"We shall not have the secret very long. I know it is argued that no other country has money enough to spend on the development of the atomic bomb, and this fact assures us the secret for a long time. It is a mistake often made in this country to measure things by the amount of money they cost. But other countries which have the materials and the men can apply them to the work of developing atomic power if they care to do so. For men and materials and the decision to use them, and not money, are all that is needed:"

That has not turned out to be true, for in spite of everything the Sage said, the Russians have not produced a bomb. They have only produced a veto. Dr. Harold C. Urey, who seems to be the politician among scientists, said:

". . . Atomic bombs must not be made by any country, and they must not be stored any place in the world if we are to have any feeling of security in this or any other country on this all-too-small planet. We are making bombs and storing them and are thus a threat to other countries and are guilty of beginning the atomic armament race. If continued, it will lead to dire disaster."

Further, he said:

"Unless we can devise some plan to prevent the manufacture of atomic bombs we shall live in constant fear of sudden and violent death. A world of vast fear and apprehension will be our lot and that of our children."

You notice how everybody walks about quaking over the atomic bomb! In fact, most of the human race is no more conscious of its existence than they are of the microbes that fly through the air. Fear is not a normal characteristic of man; were it, he would never have experimented with berries or oysters or fire. Man is courageous and resilient and takes what comes in his stride.

The scientists apparently frightened themselves more than they did anyone else. Max Eastman put the case against the scared scientists so wisely:

"To surrender any fighting advantage to the acknowledged leader of a movement pledged to overthrow our government and destroy our liberty would be an act of disloyalty in a moral sense, even if performed by the government itself. . ."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Silence—The Consoler

I am beginning to look upon Silence as medicine, which undoubtedly it is, for it is both the curer and consoler of an endless number of "troubles." Perhaps some Doctors could make popular the mere prescription: "Just get away from everything with noise to it. Find Silence—and drink deep of it!"

When we talk with the Almighty we want to be in some quet place, alone where we can open wide the door of our heart and let the mind rush its message through without interference. Great problems are not talked out and settled in the midst of noise and confusion. Silence is essential.

In the midst of sorrow we want to be left alone, to think things out, to measure its every meaning, and to try and discover somewhere a ray of light that will ease the fear of darkness and its loneliness. This Silence is what we all seek for when sorrow comes. Its most potent healing power, however is most deeply felt when in the outstretched arms of Nature—far from the madding crowd.

And what a power is silence after a bitter dispute, or unhappy argument. Even anger is assuaged. Also, how much more potent is the argument of Silence! You will recall the story of Jesus before Pilate who questioned Jesus, but Jesus kept silent and answered not. Silence is often the strongest defense that one may have.

How many an unjust argument or accusation could be immediately squelched by mere Silence! We never know what the silent man is thinking, or what he may have up his sleeve!" We can well appraise the loud and lusty talker. He advertises his weaknesses.

Silence is not only a rare Consoler, but its economic value stands very high. It saves wear and tear upon the nerves, and many an otherwise upset stomach or unruly gall bladder has come through normal and unscathed, because of the application of Silence when unjustly attacked. We know how damaging words can be unless we are well armored against them.

Even disappointment can be outweighed by Silence. That's when one thinks his most serious thoughts—and is so often saved by them!

Europe's Plight Made Worse By Nature's Actions

Nature in many countries has defeated man in his fight against hunger, just as General Weather during the war was often more important than man's plans and weapons. The latest report of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization shows that the world's grain harvest is disastrously bad.

This blow follows European reports of lower coal production. With food and fuel the twin necessities of all foreign relief and rehabilitation, these shortages mean the world will suffer even more during the coming year than in the grim year which preceded this harvest. Part of the crop damage is due to the severe European winter—the worst in 50 years. The big freeze was followed by floods. Then came the drought—in some countries the longest in a century. In Europe this grain harvest is only 58 per cent of pre-war average.

The decline in the world's major food surplus countries is especially serious. In Canada the wheat harvest is down. In the United States the corn crop has taken such a weather beating that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson says there must be export cuts.

While it is too early for crop estimates from Argentina and Australia, the other two grain surplus countries, the U. N. agency predicts that total grain exports of the Big Four granaries will be only 29,000,000 tons. The amount needed to maintain present subnormal rations is 38,000,000 tons.

The exceptions to bad harvests seem to be in eastern Europe, where Soviet-controlled statistics are unreliable. Both Russia and her Yugoslav satellite claim bumper crops. If they have exportable surpluses, these will be used for political purposes and pressures if the past is a criterion.

It can not be denied that the world's greatest need puts an added burden on the United States. The effect of worse food shortages on the Marshall Plan and all other efforts at European reconstruction is obvious. Miners and factory workers do not produce more on empty bellies. Hunger is the biggest ally of Bolshevism.

Among several lines of action to meet the world food shortage, three seems to us imperative. Americans, Canadians, Argentinians and Australians must consume less and share more. Export surpluses must be regulated more carefully, with priority give to the people who prove they can stop leaks. Britain is one of the few countries without a flourishing black market in food. The American zone in Germany is one of the worst examples.

Proper allocation of the limited export surplus should be made to save dwindling dairy herds and animal brood stock and to provide more seed grain for next season.

It is also true that it is impossible to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear that has been converted into sausage.

Revolt Against Long Skirts Gains A Member

A custom dress designer for a store which carries weight in the world of fashion has joined the revolt against long skirts, padded hips and squeezing corsets, and she is worth a whole battalion. She is Sophie of Saks Fifth Avenue, and she really counts. In private life she is the wife of the stores president, Adam Gimbel.

"I do not believe that we will return to the 18th and 19th century idea of feminine beauty," says Sophie.

"I do not believe in a mechanically hippy look. . . . I do not believe in over-corseting. . . . I do not believe that the active modern woman wants to hamper herself in the daytime with calf-length skirts."

We agree with Sophie. Her decision in favor of suits 15 inches from the ground, and dress skirts 14 to 13 inches, depending on height and cut of the garment, is sensible. It would permit many women to alter last year's garments instead of discarding them.

In this era of high prices and world-wide shortages, its almost criminal to force women to discard garments that are still serviceable. We speak with great conviction—as a husband who pays the bills.

Moreover, the Little Lady bought one new garment of the long skirt variety. It added at least 10 years to her appearance. We've noticed the same thing in the case of other women.

We get old fast enough. Why speed it up by a style which adds ten birthdays the minute it is adopted.

Los Angeles announces its sidewalks have reached the saturation point. The situation might be less critical if so many pedestrians weren't saturated.

China Reacts

The reactions of opposing sides in China's civil war to General Wedemeyer's statement on the situation were peculiar. The report was sharply critical of the faults of the Chiang government and found fault with the Chinese communists only for their use of force to attain their ends.

Such a report might normally be expected to evoke indignant protests from the government. The communists, for their part, might have been expected to protest mildly that they were using force only in "self-defense"—both sides in every war say that—and then to say: "See—the Americans admit that the government we are fighting to overthrow is a brutal tyranny!"

But it didn't happen that way. Chiang showed no resentment at Wedemeyer's statement. His government did point out "errors" in the report, but praised its "frank and friendly" spirit. The Chinese communists denounced it violently, charging that it showed the United States was seeking territory and dominion in China.

These abnormal reactions indicate that there is more to the report than meets the eye. Both sides evidently feel that it foreshadows a new American policy aimed at ending the civil war. Chiang apparently wants it ended. The communists want to go on fighting.

From these reactions it is possible to hazard a guess as to what may be expected next. Chiang evidently intends at least to try to reform his government to meet Wedemeyer's criticisms. In return, he will expect American aid against the communists if the latter reject any truce to be offered on the basis of those reforms.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DELAYED BLADDER CONTROL

PARENTS of children with enuresis (bedwetting) are entitled to sympathy as the condition is one of the most trying problems of childhood. It is disagreeable from a hygienic standpoint, as well as a source of worry.

On the other hand, the fault does not always rest with the youngster, for frequently the mother or father is to blame. The adult may forget that voluntary control of urination is a feat all of us must learn. It can be classified with other accomplishments such as crawling, walking, or talking. Every one does not acquire these skills with the same rate of speed. Hence mother dismisses the fact that the boy does not walk at the end of the year by saying that he is slow but will not give the same explanation if bedwetting continues. Instead, she fears the worst and has visions of a defective offspring or at least one who will not grow up like others.

Children learn to regulate the bladder during the waking hours with much greater ease than while sleeping. This takes time and three years may elapse before the youngster is successful in remaining dry thru the night. Impatience, blame, and punishment only bewilders the child at this stage and makes it difficult for him to cooperate. If the habit persists, however, a physician must be consulted because infection or a defect in the kidneys or bladder may exist. Occasionally diabetes is present.

An examination of this type must be thoro and include more than a study of the urine. If no physical cause is discovered the situation can be handled in a variety of ways. A psychosomatic disturbance is sometimes responsible. There may be a subconscious desire on the part of the child to return to the protected, irresponsible state of infancy. Others crave the attention that is being lavished upon the younger brothers or sisters.

Some hold resentments against their parents and bedwetting helps to "get even" for criticisms, making them eat certain foods, or denying liberties. Now and then, such conflicts are evident but all too often the help of a psychiatrist is needed to detect them. If it can be determined that a psychic factor is the basis for the disorder, there is little use in taking drugs, changing the diet, or withholding liquid.

But before such expert advice is sought it is advisable to try the simple tricks. By teaching daytime control a habit pattern may be established which is carried on into the night. Waking the youngster at various intervals not only saves the linen but encourages control of the bladder. Restriction of the fluid intake after 4 p. m. is of benefit occasionally, but in many instances merely delays the time that bedwetting will occur.

Drugs are available altho many are of questionable value. More recently several glandular products have been advocated. One, an extract made from the pituitary gland, has been helpful in some instances. Testosterone has also been recommended, especially when the trait is hereditary. In one report, 59 out of 75 were cured by this method. At the present time it is difficult to evaluate the plan, but some physicians believe it deserves further trial.

NO SPINACH

Mrs. W. writes: Our 2 year old son is healthy and active but he won't eat vegetables. We have tried everything to induce him but he just won't take them. Our doctor told us not to worry. Can you make any suggestions.

REPLY

If the boy is healthy in all respects, why not let him alone for the present? Sometimes forcing a food at an early age leaves an overlasting impression so that he will never want to eat vegetables.

DISTORTED SHAPE

Mrs. W. writes: My grandchild went to the doctor for glasses and he said her eyes were shaped like basketballs instead of footballs. What can be done?

REPLY

Distortions of this type are known as "keratoconus" or "conical cornea." They can be rectified with contact lenses altho in some persons, special strong, concave spherocylinders are effective.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Dollar Day at the Treasury Department. Yes sir, last week eight million veterans were given the opportunity to cash in their terminal leave bonds. It was a sort of "take it or leave it" with dog tags.

All this money was certainly a boon to the veterans. In fact, five thousand of them got together and paid off the mortgage on a quonset hut.

It was easy to get the money. All they had to do was present their terminal leave bonds, show their discharges, get in line at the bank and peel two million potatoes. I knew the vets were there to get money. They had a girl on each arm and a finance man as chaperone.

One Pfc. didn't have much furlough time coming, but that didn't discourage him—he just stepped up to the teller's window, threw out his chest and said, "I'll take it in stamps."

I couldn't understand why the bank was giving the money out in nickels. Then I saw the slot machine in the corner. The line was so long, it extended around two blocks. Of course, there weren't only G. I.'s in the line. Between each two veterans there was a used car dealer.

But it was wonderful of the government to give out all this money to the boys. They really need it. If they're lucky, it'll be just about enough to pay off their income taxes.

NOW THAT THERE ARE NO LOG CABINS FOR OUR PRESIDENTS TO BE BORN IN

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—It now looks as if charming, go-getting Ed Pauley, the California oil men who has long aspired to be Undersecretary of the Navy, is about to slide into an even better job.

No man in all the turbulent days of Trumanism created such a rumpus as Ed Pauley when, last winter, his Naval ambitions were abruptly stopped by "The Old Curmudgeon," Secretary of the Interior Ickes. It caused Icke's exit from the Cabinet and Pauley's name to be withdrawn.

The Republicans, however, were extremely happy. They were able to hold their noses over the smell of oil and point to the fact that Democratic Treasurer Pauley had raised several hundred thousand from oil men to elect Truman. Also they were able to block Truman's reward to the old man who not only raised money, but ran back and forth like a squirrel between the platform and the floor of the Democratic Chicago convention buttonholing delegates for Truman.

Pauley's pal who sponsored him for Undersecretary of the Navy was the Secretary of the Navy himself, Jim Forrestal. Today Forrestal sits as top dog over the entire Army and Navy. So the ways are all greased for Ed to slide into the new national defense setup. In fact, he has already started sliding.

Pauley has now been given a quiet job alongside Secretary of War Kenneth Royall. Very little is said about it, but the eloquinous Ed has an office close to Royall's and is doing part of the work ordinarily done by the Undersecretary of War.

Furthermore, the new Undersecretary of War, Gen William Draper, is handling the job of the Assistant Secretary, not the Undersecretary. And since Draper is a Dillon, Read Banker—the firm once headed by Secretary of National Defense Forrestal—it should be an easy matter, when the time is ripe, for Forrestal to shift Draper back to Wall Street, and Ed Pauley in as Undersecretary.

Pauley's present assignment is informal, does not need Senate confirmation. But after he has been there a few months, Senators are likely to be lenient toward a man who is on the job and can say that he is working his way up.

Moral: In politics the hand is sometimes quicker than the eye.

Merry-Go-Round

The admirals are up in arms over plans of Defense Secretary Forrestal to move the Navy into the War Department's Pentagon Building. It means they will have to commute all the way to Virginia, and many of them live on the other side of town in Maryland . . . Virginia real estate is booming as a result . . . . Sec. Forrestal's office in the Pentagon Building will be that of the Undersecretary of War. Alongside it is Gen. B. B. Somervell's old office. But the irreverent Forrestal is now transforming this plush inner sanctum into a kitchen (he calls it a "galley"). There are about a dozen other private kitchens in the Pentagon, from any one of which Forrestal could get his food but he is having his own kitchen built instead . . . . Jimmy Roosevelt and Henry Wallace hatched private political medicine at an off-the-record luncheon this week . . . . Washington society is amused and fascinated by Helen Lombard's book "While They Fought" telling what the womenfolk did while their husbands were away.

Eisenhower Boom Booms

Two interesting things are happening to the Presidential boom of General Ike Eisenhower:

1. Ike himself is still playing down the boom, accepting no bows, refusing radio hook-ups; 2. Despite this, more and more big politicos are getting on Ike's bandwagon.

Eisenhower is scheduled to speak at the University of West Virginia in Morgantown, on Sept. 23, and President Irvin Stewart offered him a national radio hook-up to carry his speech to the country. Ike, however, refused. Then President Stewart proposed a local West Virginia radio broadcast. Again the chief of staff declined.

But whether he likes it or not, various political bigwigs are rapidly climbing aboard the Eisenhower bandwagon. Originators of the Eisenhower boom were ex-candidate Alf Landon of Kansas and rotund Roy Roberts, astute editor of the Kansas City Star.

Today, various other GOP big shots who don't like Dewey and who are afraid Taft has killed himself with the Taft-Hartley Act, are looking toward Eisenhower. Latest is the Sun Oil Company's Joe Pew of Pennsylvania, who has never liked Dewey, and who has just commissioned ex-Congressman Charles Hawkes of Wisconsin to take a political scouting tour. Hawkes has been ordered to talk up Eisenhower to GOP leaders throughout the country and start a grass-roots movement for the General.

Note—Only trouble with Joe Pew's support is that he's never picked a winning candidate yet—not even in GOP conventions.

No wonder Eisenhower is playing it modest.

Henry Wallace Pledge

Henry Wallace's latest third-party scare coincided with a strong backstage bid for liberal support. His former associate, C. B. Baldwin, circulated a form endorsement among liberal Senators and Congressmen, urging them to sign on the Henry Wallace bandwagon. Strongly worded, the mimeographed pledge declared:

"You (Wallace) are the true spokesman for the millions of liberals who are now uniting to demand a return to the program of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt . . . You are the logical leader for the new grouping of liberals which is now taking place spontaneously, whatever its eventual form may be. We pledge our support to you in the effort to restore liberalism to the domestic and foreign policy of the United States."

At the bottom was a blank line for the endorsing signature.

Even the most liberal Senators and Congressmen, however, are not biting. Most are ignoring Baldwin's letter or else returning the forms with a polite refusal.

Taft Speeches To Sharpen Race Between Him And Gov. Dewey

By MARK SULLIVAN

Senator Taft's series of speeches in the West, beginning next Friday, composes an essential part of the Republican Presidential situation for next year. This is true even though Mr. Taft says he will not formally decide whether to be a candidate for the Presidential nomination until this series of speech is concluded.

The Republican situation has gone so far toward crystallization with Senator Taft as a leading factor in it, that to take himself out now would be an affirmative act, almost a sensational one. It would be interpreted as not merely an act of Mr. Taft personally but an act of the Republican Party. Mr. Taft was the leader in making the legislative record of the first Republican Congress in thirteen years. That record composes the principal platform of the Republican bid for the Presidency next year.

If the leader who had most to do with making the legislative record should now decide that he does not want the Presidential nomination, after so long a taking for granted by the public that he would be a candidate for it, such a step would be interpreted as implying that neither Mr. Taft nor the party relish standing on the legislative record. For Mr. Taft to try for the nomination and lose to Mr. Dewey or any other, would be one thing. Declination of Mr. Taft to try for the nomination, coming at this stage, would be quite a different thing, unless there were persuasive and convincing reasons for it. Probably Mr. Taft's statement that he will decide at the conclusion of the coming series of speeches is largely a fixing of the time for launching his campaign in the formal sense.

A more likely consequence of Mr. Taft's coming speeches is to sharpen the race between him and Governor Dewey of New York, who are by far the leading possibilities.

No Clear Issue Between Them

At present there is no clear issue between them. Governor Dewey has formally approved universal military training. Less formally, Mr. Taft has disapproved it. In his coming speeches he is likely to define his position on this as on other public issues, that is mainly what this speechmaking tour is for. Even if there should arise a clear cleavage between the two men on universal military training, it remains to be seen whether enough of the public is emotionally stirred on this question, one way or the other, to make it decisive as between Mr. Taft and Mr. Dewey.

Likewise remaining to be seen is whether other issues arise between the two. Some are possible, of course, and Mr. Taft is so forthright a person that his coming speeches may give rise to issues. A conceivable difference, though hardly to be expected, is associated with the Taft-Hartley labor law, Mr. Taft is the author of that and of course will praise it. The Republican Party is certain to praise it. No doubt Mr. Dewey, as he moves toward the actual making of the Presidential nomination, will be called on to praise the Taft-Hartley law and likewise he no doubt will be completely willing.

Eisenhower In Possibility Status

It is practically unthinkable that he should let any phase of this become an issue between him and Mr. Taft. Attack on the Taft-Hartley law, with emphasis on President Truman's attempt to veto it, is certain to be a main position of the Democrats. This is already taking form. Hearty defense of the law is imposed on the Republicans even if they were reluctant. With or without an issue between them Mr. Taft and Mr. Dewey are the leading possibilities for the Republican nomination. At the present stage the two are relatively even in strength and so far in front that they are in a class apart, with others having, in differing degrees of elevation, the rank of possibilities in case neither of the two leaders wins. Among these is to be included General Eisenhower, for the nomination of whom there is a current wave of discussion, with other developments in the making. But so long as General Eisenhower continues to refrain from countenancing activity in his behalf, he remains in the status of a possibility dependent upon what may happen in the main race between Mr. Taft and Mr. Dewey.

There's More Than Meets Eye In Kaiser's Debt-Scaling Proposal

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—There's more than meets the eye in the proposal by Henry J. Kaiser that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation scale down by about $34,500,000 what he owes the government for a wartime steel plant in California.

There's a lesson in this fundamental economics. It bears directly on why steel producers today do not want to build more steel mills in the face of demands here and there from left-wingers that if plant capacity were increased prices could come down.

Mr. Kaiser built his plant under wartime costs. The older companies built most of their plants in prewar years when costs were low. It is estimated that these companies today would have to invest about $160 to $200 per unit as contrasted with about $40 to $50 which is the amount they carry as their unit plant costs in their existing capital structures.

Obviously prices must be higher in order to yield a fair return on a larger investment. Now Mr. Kaiser has an interesting idea. If the government will reduce his debt from about $90,000,000 where it will presently be to about $55,000,000—a cut of about $35,000,000—Mr. Kaiser will agree to expand his plant, and, by adding to steel making capacity, he thinks he can then reduce prices. This means that while the plant originally cost $123,000,000, a payment shortly to be made of $15,000,000 will make the government's recovery price a total of $88,000,000 as against the $123,000,000 originally loaned by the RFC.

Would Not Be Fixed Kaiser Debt

But the $55,000,000 which is to remain as a debt after the scaling down has been done would be payable over a period of 25 years and there would be placed above it in priority a first mortgage of $80,000,000. Only after these new bonds—floated to the public as a private financing operation—have some day been retired would the $55,000,000 become a fixed obligation of the Kaiser company. During the other years the RFC would be paid interest and installments on principal only if the company earned a profit above the needs of the first mortgage bonds.

Now the defense which Mr. Kaiser makes is that the U. S. Steel Corporation bought a wartime plant in Utah at about one-fifth of its cost when the government was selling surplus property and so Mr. Kaiser thinks he should be placed on the same footing as his competitors.

Theoretically if it is the function of the government to promote competition by subsidizing the weaker competitor, thus enabling the weaker to overcome the natural handicaps growing out of the financial position of the stronger units in an industry, then there is logic in Mr. Kaiser's proposal. Many a business man operating with inadequate capital would like to be able to scale down his debt or get a modern plant at the same costs as the competitor got theirs in past years if only the government would come in and equalize competition.

As a matter of fact, maybe the large steel producers today would gladly increase their plant capacity if someone would guarantee them a continuance of demand and if the government would undertake to pay now or reimburse them later for the difference between the high construction costs for new steel units today and the original cost of the units they built several years ago and on which their present price structure is based.

Would Make Success Simple

Business success would be a simple matter to achieve if the risks could be underwritten by the RFC or some other government agency. Yet Mr. Kaiser has a kind of logic on his side—he would like to compete against the older companies and furnish more steel and at lower prices if the government would regard his loan from the RFC as it recently regarded a piece of surplus property that it built for war purposes and sold to his competitors. The trouble, of course, is that the government had no use for the the steel plant it sold and was glad to get a fraction of the cost. Nobody else evidently was willing to pay any more than the U. S. Steel Corporation, either because the plant was not located in a convenient area or because it didn't fit in with the integrated operations of any other company. Mr. Kaiser's money, however, was borrowed directly as a private venture. If the RFC scales down one loan under these circumstances, it must face requests to scale down others. It's a tough nut for Mr. Kaiser to crack but nobody can blame him for not asking the RFC to help him crack it. There's certainly no harm in asking.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

NOW THAT David Lilienthal's Atomic Energy Commission has gone into the isotope business, using the frightening word "cancer" for public relations acceptance, I thought it a favorable moment to look over some wisdom on the atom.

The remarks which I cull were made in 1945 and 1946. In the heat of political battle, politicians make campaign statements which nobody takes seriously, not even the makers, but scientists are supposed to be objective persons who devote their lives to the search for truth. Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, one of the best of the lot, testifying before Congress, said:

". . . I don't know anything about the life of Russia, but if I were a Russian scientist and had this thing pulled as it was pulled, if I lived in a country which has just recently become one of the great powers and is very power sensitive and which has always prided itself on its science and on its technology, I would say: 'Boys, we had better get to it,' I think they will."

I do not know whether Dr. Oppenheimer expected them to go to it by science or theft. To date, the only evidence is theft.

Dr. Vannevar Bush went Freudian and told the members of Congress:

". . . One fear that I have is that someone, thinking that he had a new idea on this subject, might start experiments in an attic with the idea that he would develop a new commercial process, and the result might be that he developed so much radioactive energy from this fission process that he would sterilize, perhaps, all of the passers-by. That is entirely possible."

Dr. Leo Szilard made this point:

"With reference to secrets, let me say that clearly the biggest secret was given away with the use of the atomic bomb, because knowing that such a bomb can be made is half of the secret. . ."

The sage Albert Einstein pronounced:

"We shall not have the secret very long. I know it is argued that no other country has money enough to spend on the development of the atomic bomb, and this fact assures us the secret for a long time. It is a mistake often made in this country to measure things by the amount of money they cost. But other countries which have the materials and the men can apply them to the work of developing atomic power if they care to do so. For men and materials and the decision to use them, and not money, are all that is needed:"

That has not turned out to be true, for in spite of everything the Sage said, the Russians have not produced a bomb. They have only produced a veto. Dr. Harold C. Urey, who seems to be the politician among scientists, said:

". . . Atomic bombs must not be made by any country, and they must not be stored any place in the world if we are to have any feeling of security in this or any other country on this all-too-small planet. We are making bombs and storing them and are thus a threat to other countries and are guilty of beginning the atomic armament race. If continued, it will lead to dire disaster."

Further, he said:

"Unless we can devise some plan to prevent the manufacture of atomic bombs we shall live in constant fear of sudden and violent death. A world of vast fear and apprehension will be our lot and that of our children."

You notice how everybody walks about quaking over the atomic bomb! In fact, most of the human race is no more conscious of its existence than they are of the microbes that fly through the air. Fear is not a normal characteristic of man; were it, he would never have experimented with berries or oysters or fire. Man is courageous and resilient and takes what comes in his stride.

The scientists apparently frightened themselves more than they did anyone else. Max Eastman put the case against the scared scientists so wisely:

"To surrender any fighting advantage to the acknowledged leader of a movement pledged to overthrow our government and destroy our liberty would be an act of disloyalty in a moral sense, even if performed by the government itself. . ."

Today's Talk

Silence—The Consoler

I am beginning to look upon Silence as medicine, which undoubtedly it is, for it is both the curer and consoler of an endless number of "troubles." Perhaps some Doctors could make popular the mere prescription: "Just get away from everything with noise to it. Find Silence—and drink deep of it!"

When we talk with the Almighty we want to be in some quet place, alone where we can open wide the door of our heart and let the mind rush its message through without interference. Great problems are not talked out and settled in the midst of noise and confusion. Silence is essential.

In the midst of sorrow we want to be left alone, to think things out, to measure its every meaning, and to try and discover somewhere a ray of light that will ease the fear of darkness and its loneliness. This Silence is what we all seek for when sorrow comes. Its most potent healing power, however is most deeply felt when in the outstretched arms of Nature—far from the madding crowd.

And what a power is silence after a bitter dispute, or unhappy argument. Even anger is assuaged. Also, how much more potent is the argument of Silence! You will recall the story of Jesus before Pilate who questioned Jesus, but Jesus kept silent and answered not. Silence is often the strongest defense that one may have.

How many an unjust argument or accusation could be immediately squelched by mere Silence! We never know what the silent man is thinking, or what he may have up his sleeve!" We can well appraise the loud and lusty talker. He advertises his weaknesses.

Silence is not only a rare Consoler, but its economic value stands very high. It saves wear and tear upon the nerves, and many an otherwise upset stomach or unruly gall bladder has come through normal and unscathed, because of the application of Silence when unjustly attacked. We know how damaging words can be unless we are well armored against them.

Even disappointment can be outweighed by Silence. That's when one thinks his most serious thoughts—and is so often saved by them!

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Tom could hear Kate moving about in the kitchen, putting away the dinner dishes. The sound pleased him. He was always pleased when Kate was fussing around the apartment, giving it the little pats which made it easy to live in.

Billy Rose

"Why don't you turn in early?" said Kate, coming into the parlor. "You look a little beat."

"I'm all right," said Tom. "I'll be getting plenty of rest while you're away."

"I'll be up a while pressing out a couple of blouses," said Kate. "See you in the morning."

In the darkened bedroom, Tom chuckled. Darn considerate of his mother-in-law to have a heart attack. Kate would be gone at least a week. And it shaped up like a mighty pleasant week, a chance to see a lot of that blonde Betty dame without Kate getting wise.

Of course, he didn't want to lose Kate. She was too comfortable. But, heck, a guy was entitled to a little fun after twelve years on the reservation. He'd be plenty careful. Kate had been pretty definite that time when she had bumped into him coming out of a movie with Betty. "We won't talk about it," she had told him later that night. "It's past. I just want to say if it ever happens again we're all washed up."

Tom took Kate to the station next morning and gave her the large-size going-away hug. When the train had pulled out, he headed for the nearest telephone booth.

Six mornings later, the apartment buzzer woke him. It took Tom a few seconds to realize the noise was not inside his head. He let in a Western Union boy. The wire was from Kate. Her mother was a lot better and she'd be home at four that afternoon.

Tom looked around the room. It looked like the morning-after scene in a bum movie. That Betty dame might at least have put the records back in the albums. He looked at the glasses and cigarette butts and knew why his mouth tasted so sour. Well, it had been worth it—what he remembered of it. Still, it was nice to know old Kate was coming back to take charge.

He'd have to get the apartment cleaned up. He emptied a few ash trays, but then got a better idea. He called an employment agency and arranged for a maid to come right down and give the place a thorough going over.

Kate's train was on time. Kate's trains were always on time. As she came through the gate he handed her a gardenia with a silver ribbon on it, and cracked, "Try this on for size, my dark-haired beauty."

Back at the apartment, Kate said, "How nice the place looks! I thought it would take me a week to get the cigar butts out of the drain."

Tom winked at himself in the mirror as he put Kate's bag in the bedroom.

Then he stretched out on the sofa as Kate started fixing some coffee and sandwiches. He listened to the sound of his wife working in the kitchen. Nice sound.

The door buzzer buzzed. "Don't move," said Kate. "I'll get it."

A brisk voice at the door said, "Madam, could I interest you in a . . ."

Tom listened and then snickered. A vacuum cleaner salesman. How did he ever get past the doorman?

"I'm sorry," he heard Kate say. "We already have one."

Tom got a bright idea. Why not buy Katie a new vacuum cleaner? Sort of a homecoming present. "Let the man in, dear," he called. "Let's see what he's selling."

Kate came through the living room arch with a fattish little man who was holding his hat in one hand and a shiny new cleaner in the other. The salesman went right into his pitch. "If you'll bring out your old prewar cleaner, madam, I'll show you the many advantages of this new model."

Kate looked toward Tom. "Go ahead, dear," he said. Kate brought out their vacuum cleaner.

Tom made enthusiastic noises as the salesman demonstrated the ingenious extra gadgets that a five-year war had given to the vacuum cleaner industry.

"And this," said the salesman, "is the niftiest improvement of all." He pointed to the disposal bag. "Notice," he said, "how easily it comes off. You just press this lever. No more struggling—like with the prewar models." He reached for their old vacuum cleaner.

As he pulled its bag off there was a little cloud of dust. "You see how inefficient it is," said the salesman, emptying the contents into a nearby wastebasket.

Tom saw his wife's dark head bend down over the wastebasket, as the salesman shook out a jumble of lipsticked cigarette butts, bobby pins and blonde hair combings.

"It's a nice machine," said Kate to Tom. "But I don't think we'll be needing one."

"Gelatin King" To Pay Wife Million In Cash

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — The New York Journal-American said yesterday Orator Frank Woodward, multi-millionaire "Gelatin King," had agreed to pay his ex-actress wife $1,000,000 in cash to end their marital difficulties.

The Journal-American said Mrs. Woodward, the former Mary Trask, agreed to accept the lump sum in lieu of $4,000-a-month alimony and to go to Reno and validate the pair's divorce.

Previously, the newspaper said, Mrs. Woodward contended that a Reno divorce he obtained in 1942 was void because she was not represented. Woodward charged her with cruelty, seeking control of his income, serving him inferior food, keeping dogs in the house and engaging in fisticuffs with servants, the story said.

Maryland Women's Jury Service Law Challenged

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Just as it was going into practical effect, women's jury service in Maryland was attacked in court yesterday as "unconstitutional."

An attorney representing a man accused of a holdup contended the Women's Jury Service Act is invalid because Maryland legislators exempted 12 of the states' 23 counties when they passed it last winter after many years of turning it down.

Paul B. Mules, Baltimore attorney, challenged the act. He was appearing for Irvin D. Limper, a mechanic charged with holding up two Sun papers newsboys August 19.

When Judge J. Abner Sayler called Limpler to trial in Criminal Court, 11 of the 22 prospective jurors were women. It was perhaps the first case called for trial with women on the panel.

"Gelatin King" To Pay Wife Million In Cash

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — The New York Journal-American said yesterday Orator Frank Woodward, multi-millionaire "Gelatin King," had agreed to pay his ex-actress wife $1,000,000 in cash to end their marital difficulties.

The Journal-American said Mrs. Woodward, the former Mary Trask, agreed to accept the lump sum in lieu of $4,000-a-month alimony and to go to Reno and validate the pair's divorce.

Previously, the newspaper said, Mrs. Woodward contended that a Reno divorce he obtained in 1942 was void because she was not represented. Woodward charged her with cruelty, seeking control of his income, serving him inferior food, keeping dogs in the house and engaging in fisticuffs with servants, the story said.

Maryland Women's Jury Service Law Challenged

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Just as it was going into practical effect, women's jury service in Maryland was attacked in court yesterday as "unconstitutional."

An attorney representing a man accused of a holdup contended the Women's Jury Service Act is invalid because Maryland legislators exempted 12 of the states' 23 counties when they passed it last winter after many years of turning it down.

Paul B. Mules, Baltimore attorney, challenged the act. He was appearing for Irvin D. Limper, a mechanic charged with holding up two Sun papers newsboys August 19.

When Judge J. Abner Sayler called Limpier to trial in Criminal Court, 11 of the 22 prospective jurors were women. It was perhaps the first case called for trial with women on the panel.

NORTH WILL BEGIN NEW BANK DUTIES

George A. North will assume his new duties next Monday as assistant trust officer of the Second National Bank of Cumberland, succeeding Robert Harvey, Frostburg, who submitted his resignation recently, bank officials announced yesterday.

A native of Cumberland, the new Second National officer is the son of Mrs. George A. North, 32 Virginia Avenue. After graduation from the Allegany County Academy, Mr. North attended Catherman's Business School and the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh.

His business and banking experience consists of a three year association with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in financial work, with the Second National Bank of Cumberland and with the Lowndes Savings Bank and Trust Company, Clarksburg, W. Va. During the last six and one half years he has been a national bank examiner for banks in Virginia and West Virginia with headquarters in Pulaski, Va.

Harvey was connected with the Second National Bank since 1942 except for a two and a half year period of Army service in Europe. He is entering private business but has not disclosed his plans.

Tuesday evening the resigning trust officer was a guest at a party tendered him at Cottage Inn by his associates in the bank.

British Report Jewish Refugees Causing Trouble

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 10 (AP)—British officials in charge of the heavily-guarded camps for the 1947 Exodus Jews said tonight the Jews were "being obstinate and giving us plenty of trouble."

The refugees themselves reiterated their determination to seek again to enter Palestine.

One Jewish leader said the refugees who quit the Empire Rival yesterday without protest did so because they knew it contained a bomb set to "blow the ship to hell" 10 hours after the evacuation started. A powerful home-made canister bomb was found by British naval personnel in a search of the ship yesterday, and it later exploded on grounds of a naval depot.

British sailors had to use clubs and fists to disembark Jews on the other two transports which returned 4,311 refugees to Germany after a futile effort to smash the British blockade on the Palestine coast.

The Jews were taken to two camps near Luebeck, and reports said 100 Jews at Poppendorf—the larger of the two camps—were on a hunger strike.

U. S. Plea Not Heeded

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (INS)—Secretary of State Marshall revealed today that the United States sought to dissuade Grea Britain from forcibly unloading 4,311 "Exodous 1947" Jews in Hamburg.

Marshall told a news conference that this country was keenly aware of the unfortunate results that would follow the return of the Jews to Germany aboard British transports.

The Secretary asserted, however, that the British replied that one of their reasons for acting was that of housing the refugees.

He said that London advised Washington that while the French offer of haven for the displaced persons was still open, the Jews had refused it.

When the "Exodus 1947" refugees were turned back from Palestine they refused to disembark in Marseille.

Marshall said the British explained that the only available housing thus left for the Jews was in Germany.

Says It Would

The Lend-Lease Act is officially dead, they pointed out, and specific Congress authorization will be necessary to renew it in any form.

The United States provided $50,692,000,000 in lend-lease supplies to its Allies fram March 11, 1941, to September 30, 1946.

Top administration policy makers are reported to be dividing whatever financial aid the United States will furnish under the Marshall plan into these categories:

1. Grants to purchase food and fuel. These would not be repaid.

2. Loans to foreign countries to enable them to purchase capital equipment of lasting value which can help in their reconstruction.

In that point 2 would entail some obligation on the part of recipients, the Marshall plan would resemble lend-lease, these American officials agreed.

Smallest Corn

rate of overseas grain shipments, the world's hungry nations can expect, officials predicted, an almost immediate review of this country's export commitments.

One high authority on the export grain program told a reporter that the corn crop will not be sufficient to meet our needs — foreign and domestic. Last Friday Secretary Anderson told the world that the countries being fed with United States grain must do more in the future to help feed themselves.

The Agriculture Department reported that prospective yields of soy beans and sorghum grains also declined during August.

But it estimated that there would be general but relatively small increases in cotton, oats, flax seed, tobacco and peanuts.

Ends Hunger Strike

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 10—(AP)—Mrs. Anna E. Boyer, 73-year-old landlady, tonight ended her seven-day-old hunger strike in protest over federal rent ceilings on her apartment dwelling.

STUDENTS GIVEN DAY OFF; HOAXER ORDERS SCHOOL DISMISSED

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Sept. 10—(AP)—Franklin High School's 1,212 students got an unauthorized vacation at 10 a. m. today when an anonymous woman telephoned the school office representing herself as calling from the Board of Education and directing that school be dismissed.

The same caller apparently notified the school bus barns to send buses for the dismissed students, for they arrived at the school shortly after the students had been released from classes.

The hoax was thought to have grown out of yesterday's 15-minute early dismissal because of the 98-degree heat.

Ga. Radio Station Accuses Network

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 10 (AP)—A state-owned Georgia radio station accused the Columbia Broadcasting System today of ruinous business practices, and asked a United States District Court injunction against transfer of CBS affiliation to a competitor.

The hearing arrayed two former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission against one another. Paul A. Porter, along with Attorney General Eugene Cook, of Georgia, is directing counsel for the plaintiff, while James Lawrence Fly heads a legal battery representing CBS and Capitalist George B. Storer, Wheeling, W. Va.

Porter, as chief counsel for radio station WGST of Atlanta, told Judge E. Marvin Underwood that CBS ignored 17 years of business association and cancelled its contract in order to consumate a three-way deal which would give CBS a 50,000 watt outlet in Wheeling. At the same time, he said, CBS gave similar short shrift to another long-time associate, Station WQAM in Miami.

The deal involved in WWVA in Wheeling, WAGA in Atlanta, and WGBS in Miami, all owned by Storer. Counsel for WGST said Columbia urgently wanted the Wheeling outlet, and Storer refused to sign unless he got CBS affiliation for his Atlanta and Miami stations. This, said Porter, was conspiracy to violate the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws and WGST demands an injunction to prevent "disasterous" damage by loss of its CBS affiliation.

"Middleman's" Profits Will Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (AP)—A special Senate-House committee today assigned an investigator to delve into the high cost of building material and the profits of "middlemen" in a move to help solve the nation's housing shortage.

The action followed a suggestion by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that Congress "as a last resort" might have to crack down on the profits of middlemen in the building industry.

McCarthy told reporters that the committee will "explore the possibility of cutting out unnecessary profits" by those who function between producer and purchaser.

He said congressional action might be taken unless building costs drop.

Glass Companies Named In Anti-Trust Action

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark announced today that a civil anti-trust action has been filed in Toledo, O., charging three major glass firms with "conspiracy to monopolize" the glass fiber industry in the United States.

The defendants were also accused of conspiring with nine foreign companies in Holland, France, England, Italy and Canada "to buttress their monopoly" by dividing territories and getting exclusive patents rights.

The three American firms named in the suit are the Owens-Illinois Glass Company and Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, both of Toledo, and the Corning Glass Works, of Corning, N. Y.

Thought Of Taxes Doesn't Dim Joy Of Chauffeur Who Will Get Fortune

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—(INS)—James Mattalina tonight considered his forthcoming bills for taxes and chortled with glee.

The taxes were on the bequest of his employer who paid the balding, 53-year-old chauffeur $35 a week and left him a fortune which may total as much as half a million dollars.

Warned that federal and state inheritance taxes will take a big slice of the windfall, Mattalina grinned and said:

"I don't care. I love it."

Mattalina had plans for whatever is left. He said:

"First, we spend $50,000 or whatever it takes to cure my son, Sam.

"Then, we buy a spotted pony for my grandson, Wayne."

His wife, Elizabeth, who helped out through the years by conducting a delicatessen in the front room of their four-room flat, had plans, too. Smiling through tears of joy, she said:

"We will get a home, a house of seven or eight rooms. We will start living. But first, we will get rid of the store."

Their son, Sam, 30, came home from war suffering from shell shock. And their family economy was further menaced when their daughters, Katherine, 28, and Geraldine, 27, were divorced and came home to the tiny flat with their two children, a girl, 11, and 7-year-old Wayne.

The fortune was left Mattalina by Miss Anna Craig, 82, for whose family he went to work 25 years ago.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Who Plans Informal Wedding Asks Miss Fairfax's Advice

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am planning to be married this winter. Would you please tell me what shades are suitable for a wedding dress? I am having an informal wedding. Also, how many dresses will I need to take on my two-week honeymoon? Do I keep my gloves on during the ceremony? Will it be all right if I wear my wedding suit as a going-away outfit?

MARION B.

Dear Marion:

If you are having an informal wedding, there is no reason why you couldn't wear your wedding suit as a going-away outfit.

How many dresses you will need on your two-week honeymoon depends on the type of place where you expect to spend this period. If you are going to an expensive resort, you will naturally need many more changes and more formal clothes than you will require at an informal place. Not knowing your plans, I am afraid I can't answer this question any more definitely.

As to wearing gloves during your wedding ceremony, the leading authorities on etiquette consider this purely a matter of choice.

"Going Steady" Too Young

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17 and have been going steady with a fellow of the same age for over a year. We get along very well and have been very faithful to each other. I haven't been out with any other fellows since we started going steady.

Sometimes, though, I feel as though I would like to go out with somebody else. I have met another boy I think I like, but how can I find out whether I do or not if I don't go out with him? Would it be definitely wrong for me to go out with him while I am going with someone else?

"CONFUSED"

Dear "Confused":

Since you and this boy have been concentrating on each other exclusively for more than a year it would hardly be fair for you to start going out with someone else and keep on going with the first boy without telling him you intended to do so. It would neither be fair nor quite honest, if you were letting your "steady" boy friend still believe he was the only young man in your life.

I have always thought, however, that it was a mistake for any girls and boys as young as you two to devote yourselves exclusively to one person and give up all your other friends. It is rarely possible for teen-agers to know their own minds so definitely that they can pick out their permanent mates, as you are now finding out. My advice to you is to be perfectly frank with your boy friend and tell him you feel it would be a good thing for you both to see more of other people.

Eagles And Legion Battle To 3-3 Draw

Darkness Halts Playoff Battle In 11th Stanza

Long Orders Teams To Play On Friday

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, and the Fraternal Order of Eagles, battled ten innings to a 3-3 deadlock yesterday at Community Park in what was to have been the third and deciding game of their playoff series in the Interstate Baseball League.

Both teams were guilty of deliberate stalling and this coupled with bitter arguments marred the contest which lasted two hours and 23 minutes.

After the Legion had chased three runs over the platter in the top half of the eleventh, Umpire-in-Chief Russ Minnicks halted hostilities because of darkness. Since the Eagles failed to take their 11th inning turn at bat, the score reverted to the 10th frame and the teams walked off the field even-Stephen.

Game Set For Friday

President John J. Long announced last night that the teams will be given 24 hours in which to "cool off" before meeting again on Friday at 5 p. m. at Community Park.

Long said both teams should have been fined for the tactics they used but he refrained from taking this action because of the fact that the season is almost completed. He warned however, that if last evening's performance is repeated in any of the remaining playoff games the guilty party or parties will be fined.

If rain washes out Friday's scheduled game, it will be played Saturday at Community Park. If the game is completed on Friday, the winner will open the championship series here with Moorefield on Saturday. In event the Eagles-Legion game is postponed to Saturday, the victor will meet Moorefield on Sunday in the West Virginia town.

Long said that Friday's game will not be a continuation of yesterday's tie. It will be an entirely new game, he added.

The Legion scored the first run of the game in the second when Bill Cumiskey singled to center, was forced at second by Bobby Williams and the latter completed the circuit on "Red" Ingram's infield hit and Charley Cumiskey's base wallop.

"Boots" Miller drove over the run that tied it up at 1-1 when he delivered a single after Stitcher was hit by a pitched ball, moved to second on Morgan's sacrifice and advanced to third on Sellers' infield out.

In the 4th the Legion took the lead again when Bill Cumiskey's double, Williams' hit and Ingram's fly to center produced a run. At this point Ted Durbin, Eagles' left fielder made a sensational running catch of Charley Cumiskey's drive and doubled Williams off second base with a snappy return to the infield.

Baker's scratch infield hit, a wild pitch and Manager Art Garbark's timely blow netted a run and gave the Legion a 3-1 edge in the 5th.

Eagles Tie Score in 6th

In the sixth, however, the Eagles scored twice to knot the count for the final time. Durbin was hit by a pitched ball by Creegan and pilfered second. Stitcher walker and then Durbin stole third. Morgan beat out a bunt which scored Durbin and Stitcher later swiped home with the tying run. Norman Geatz replaced Pat Creegan on the mound and after Sellers grounded out to Diehl, "Boots" Miller was purposely passed and Delbrugge went out, Geatz to Ingram.

The Legion chased three runs over the plate in the 11th after one down when Umpire Minnicks halted the proceedings.

Cards Trim Phils, 4-1 Brazle Bags 12th Win

St. Louis Team Stays On Brooklyn's Heels

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10 (INS)—The stretch-running Cardinals won their ninth verdict in their last ten games tonight by topping the Philadelphia Phils, 4 to 1. Thus the Cards remained four and a half games back of the Brooklyn Dodgers, National League leaders who defeated the Chicago Cubs in an afternoon game.

Cardinal southpaw Al Brazle limited the Phils to four hits and an earned run tonight while his mates were poking knuckleballer Dutch Leonard for 13 of their 14 safeties.

The batting hero was Marty Marion. The lean Redbird shortfielder tripled to score Ron Northey with the Cards' first run in the third, after the Phils had gone ahead 1-0 in their half of the frame. Then in the fourth, Marion's single drove in Northey with what proved to be the winning run.

Brazle hung up his twelfth victory while Leonard took his tenth defeat. It was the last meeting of the year between the two clubs. Box:

Brooklyn Cops Series Finale From Cubs, 5-1

Stanky Belts Homer, Hatten Notches 14th

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Brooklyn experimented with Jackie Robinson in the clean-up spot, but it was a team job of power hitting and brilliant fielding which pulled the league-leading Dodgers out of a budding slump with a 5 to 1 win over the Chicago Cubs today.

A three-run punch in the seventh inning, including a two-marker homer by little Eddie Stanky, clinched the Dodgers' finale at Wrigley Field and ended a three-game losing streak.

The triumph, 15th over the Cubs in the season's 22 meetings, temporarily put the Dodgers five games in front of second-place St. Louis booked against Philadelphia in a night game at St. Louis.

The deciding tally came in the seventh, with the score knotted at 1-1, when Dixie Walker opened with a double and scampered home on Spider Jorgensen's two-bagger. Then Stanky banged his homer, his third of the season.

Robinson, making his first appearance as a clean-up batter, collected a pair of singles in five trips and scored the fifth Dodger run in the eighth with a brilliant base-running display. Jackie singled, stole second by a mile, loafed to third on an infield out and then raced home on an infield out with a sprint that caught the Cubs napping. It was Robinson's 25th base theft of the season.

Joe Hatten got his 14th win against eight defeats, but he wasn't around at the finish. Fireman Hugh Casey, who came to Joe's rescue in the seventh, was aided by two fielding gems by center-fielder Carl Furillo. Box:

Bob Falkenburg Wins Thrilling Five-Set Match

Beats Colin Long; Shirley Fry Upset

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Long Bob Falkenburg of Los Angeles, the darling of the tennis galleries, got up off the floor today and rallied to pull out a thrilling five-set victory over Colin Long of Australia in the national championships at Forest Hills.

Down two sets and apparently well beaten, the lanky coast star gave the stadium crowd its greatest thrill of the day as he battled back to catch and beat the Aussie Davis Cup player by the marathon score of 4-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. At the end, when he had served an untouchable ace to end it, Falkenburg was too tired to vault the net.

The victory advanced him into the quarter-final round of the championships along with Juroslav Drobny, the Czech Davis cupper, who scored over Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 2-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. The two were a round ahead of the rest of the men's field.

The women's division experienced its first flurry of excitement in five days when Madame Magda Rurac, a fast-footed newcomer from Romania, dumped Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, from the tournament in a long-drawn three-setter on the club house court, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. Miss Fry, a member of his year's American Wightman Cup team, was seeded fifth among the home girls.

The match was the only one of the day to cheer about. Frankie Parker, the No. 2 seeded, romped to a 6-0, 6-2, 6-3 win over blond Bernard Destremau, French Davis cup player, and John Bromwich of Australia had an even easier time ousting Henri Rochon of Montreal, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Other third round contests saw Gardnar Mulloy of Miami eliminate Sumant Misra of India, 6-3, 6-2, 9-7, and Dinny Pails of Australia turn back Clarence (Nick) Carter of San Francisco, 6-1, 7-5, 6-2.

MacPhail Says He Can Express His Opinions

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10—(AP)—Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees, said tonight that "anytime Chandler or any one else labors under the impression I cannot express my opinions on baseball he is entirely wrong."

The fiery, red-head in an interview tonight, said he would go to Cincinnati tomorrow for a meeting "pertaining to world series matters" and not to confer with Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, regarding an investigation into an interview attributed to the Yankee president.

Johnny Goodman Loses In Amateur Golf Tournament

Frank Strafaci Wins Over Veteran, 3 And 2

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 10—(INS)—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., one of the pre-tourney favorites was eliminated late today in the fourth round of the U. S. National Amateur championship at Pebble Beach. Johnny Dawson, the veteran Los Angeles amateur, dropped the Toledo "strong boy" from the tourney by beating him 1 up on the 20th green.

By RUSS NEWLAND

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 10 (AP)—Former National Titleholder Dick Chapman of Mamaroneck, N. Y. rode safely through the fourth round of the 1947 U. S. Amateur Golf Championship today but another ex-champ, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, found the going too tough.

Chapman, hewing close to par figures for the exacting Pebble Beach course, eliminated Jack Coyle, Springfield, Ill., 3 and 1. Goodman, winner of the 1937 title, bowed to Frank Strafaci, Flushing, N. Y., 3 and 2.

Strafaci, himself a national public links champion in 1935, played slightly better golf than his opponent. Goodman aided in his own downfall by missing short putts on the 9th and 12th holes, both about two feet long.

Chapman won the first two holes against Coyle and remained in front. He was 1 up at the turn with a par 36.

In third round matches this morning, Chapman won from John Daniel, Spokane, Wash., 2 and 1. Strafaci took a 1 up, decision from A. Richard Mayer, Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Goodman beat Boc Cochran, Overland, Mo., 6 and 5.

Otto Hofmeister a dark horse from Lewiston, Idaho, wrapped up a pair of matches, defeating Eli Bariteau, Jr., San Jose, 9 and 1 in the fourth round after putting out Hal Stone, Jr., Bloomington, Ill., 2 and 1 in the morning.

Movie Mogul Says Davis Lost To Pros Until 1949

Contract Stipulates Army Star Can't Play

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10—(INS)—A movie mogul who claims "exclusive contract" on Glenn Davis, Army's three-time All-American halfback, charged today that the gridiron star will not perform as a professional before 1949 — and maybe not then.

John R. Rogers, producer of a football flicker starring Davis and his running-mate Doc Blanchard, declared:

"If Dan Reeves, owner of the Los Angeles Rams, thinks he made a good deal in trading the Detroit Lions out of Glenn Davis, he is in for a very rude awakening.

"Davis will not be seen in action during this football season, or even next season.

"I have a contract on Davis for an exclusive one-year performance right during which time he cannot play professional football."

Rogers said his contracts with Blanchard and Davis call for "no professional football" for one year after the release date of their picture, "The Spirit Of West Point." The movie will start hitting neighborhood theaters late next month.

The producer also disclosed for the first time how Davis suffered a serious knee injury during football scenes for the film.

The injury kept "Mr. Outside" out of the all-star game in Chicago last month, and his million-buck gam buckled under him early in the Eastern All-Star charity contest with the New York Giants two weeks ago.

Rogers said Davis was tackled while snagging a pass during a movie replay of the Army-Notre Dame game.

"Tears came to Doc Blanchard's eyes," the producer said, "because it was the first time that 'time out' had been called on Davis since his freshman year at the Point."

Davis, now a second lieutenant at Fort Riley, was paid $25,000 cash and guaranteed a chunk of the profits of his movie.

The All-America Football Conference draft rights are held by the San Francisco 49'ers.

"But," declared Rogers, "neither the 49'ers nor the Rams will get him because of the exclusive playing contract I hold."

Eagles And Legion Battle To 3-3 Draw

Darkness Halts Playoff Battle In 11th Stanza

Long Orders Teams To Play On Friday

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, and the Fraternal Order of Eagles, battled ten innings to a 3-3 deadlock yesterday at Community Park in what was to have been the third and deciding game of their playoff series in the Interstate Baseball League.

Both teams were guilty of deliberate stalling and this coupled with bitter arguments marred the contest which lasted two hours and 23 minutes.

After the Legion had chased three runs over the platter in the top half of the eleventh, Umpire-in-Chief Russ Minnicks halted hostilities because of darkness. Since the Eagles failed to take their 11th inning turn at bat, the score reverted to the 10th frame and the teams walked off the field even-Stephen.

Game Set For Friday

President John J. Long announced last night that the teams will be given 24 hours in which to "cool off" before meeting again on Friday at 5 p. m. at Community Park.

Long said both teams should have been fined for the tactics they used but he refrained from taking this action because of the fact that the season is almost completed. He warned however, that if last evening's performance is repeated in any of the remaining playoff games the guilty party or parties will be fined.

If rain washes out Friday's scheduled game, it will be played Saturday at Community Park. If the game is completed on Friday, the winner will open the championship series here with Moorefield on Saturday. In event the Eagles-Legion game is postponed to Saturday, the victor will meet Moorefield on Sunday in the West Virginia town.

Long said that Friday's game will not be a continuation of yesterday's tie. It will be an entirely new game, he added.

The Legion scored the first run of the game in the second when Bill Cumiskey singled to center, was forced at second by Bobby Williams and the latter completed the circuit on "Red" Ingram's infield hit and Charley Cumiskey's base wallop.

"Boots" Miller drove over the run that tied it up at 1-1 when he delivered a single after Stitcher was hit by a pitched ball, moved to second on Morgan's sacrifice and advanced to third on Sellers' infield out.

In the 4th the Legion took the lead again when Bill Cumiskey's double, Williams' hit and Ingram's fly to center produced a run. At this point Ted Durbin, Eagles' left fielder made a sensational running catch of Charley Cumiskey's drive and doubled Williams off second base with a snappy return to the infield.

Baker's scratch infield hit, a wild pitch and Manager Art Garbark's timely blow netted a run and gave the Legion a 3-1 edge in the 5th.

Eagles Tie Score in 6th

In the sixth, however, the Eagles scored twice to knot the count for the final time. Durbin was hit by a pitched ball by Creegan and pilfered second. Stitcher walker and then Durbin stole third. Morgan beat out a bunt which scored Durbin and Stitcher later swiped home with the tying run. Norman Geatz replaced Pat Creegan on the mound and after Sellers grounded out to Diehl, "Boots" Miller was purposely passed and Delbrugge went out, Geatz to Ingram.

The Legion chased three runs over the plate in the 11th after one down when Umpire Minnicks halted the proceedings.

Cards Trim Phils, 4-1 Brazle Bags 12th Win

St. Louis Team Stays On Brooklyn's Heels

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10 (INS)—The stretch-running Cardinals won their ninth verdict in their last ten games tonight by topping the Philadelphia Phils, 4 to 1. Thus the Cards remained four and a half games back of the Brooklyn Dodgers, National League leaders who defeated the Chicago Cubs in an afternoon game.

Cardinal southpaw Al Brazle limited the Phils to four hits and an earned run tonight while his mates were poking knuckleballer Dutch Leonard for 13 of their 14 safeties.

The batting hero was Marty Marion. The lean Redbird shortfielder tripled to score Ron Northey with the Cards' first run in the third, after the Phils had gone ahead 1-0 in their half of the frame. Then in the fourth, Marion's single drove in Northey with what proved to be the winning run.

Brazle hung up his twelfth victory while Leonard took his tenth defeat. It was the last meeting of the year between the two clubs. Box:

Brooklyn Cops Series Finale From Cubs, 5-1

Stanky Belts Homer, Hatten Notches 14th

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Brooklyn experimented with Jackie Robinson in the clean-up spot, but it was a team job of power hitting and brilliant fielding which pulled the league-leading Dodgers out of a budding slump with a 5 to 1 win over the Chicago Cubs today.

A three-run punch in the seventh inning, including a two-marker homer by little Eddie Stanky, clinched the Dodgers' finale at Wrigley Field and ended a three-game losing streak.

The triumph, 15th over the Cubs in the season's 22 meetings, temporarily put the Dodgers five games in front of second-place St. Louis booked against Philadelphia in a night game at St. Louis.

The deciding tally came in the seventh, with the score knotted at 1-1, when Dixie Walker opened with a double and scampered home on Spider Jorgensen's two-bagger. Then Stanky banged his homer, his third of the season.

Robinson, making his first appearance as a clean-up batter, collected a pair of singles in five trips and scored the fifth Dodger run in the eighth with a brilliant base-running display. Jackie singled, stole second by a mile, loafed to third on an infield out and then raced home on an infield out with a sprint that caught the Cubs napping. It was Robinson's 25th base theft of the season.

Joe Hatten got his 14th win against eight defeats, but he wasn't around at the finish. Fireman Hugh Casey, who came to Joe's rescue in the seventh, was aided by two fielding gems by center-fielder Carl Furillo. Box:

Bob Falkenburg Wins Thrilling Five-Set Match

Beats Colin Long; Shirley Fry Upset

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Long Bob Falkenburg of Los Angeles, the darling of the tennis galleries, got up off the floor today and rallied to pull out a thrilling five-set victory over Colin Long of Australia in the national championships at Forest Hills.

Down two sets and apparently well beaten, the lanky coast star gave the stadium crowd its greatest thrill of the day as he battled back to catch and beat the Aussie Davis Cup player by the marathon score of 4-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. At the end, when he had served an untouchable ace to end it, Falkenburg was too tired to vault the net.

The victory advanced him into the quarter-final round of the championships along with Juroslav Drobny, the Czech Davis cupper, who scored over Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 2-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. The two were a round ahead of the rest of the men's field.

The women's division experienced its first flurry of excitement in five days when Madame Magda Rurac, a fast-footed newcomer from Romania, dumped Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, from the tournament in a long-drawn three-setter on the club house court, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. Miss Fry, a member of his year's American Wightman Cup team, was seeded fifth among the home girls.

The match was the only one of the day to cheer about. Frankie Parker, the No. 2 seeded, romped to a 6-0, 6-2, 6-3 win over blond Bernard Destremau, French Davis cup player, and John Bromwich of Australia had an even easier time ousting Henri Rochon of Montreal, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Other third round contests saw Gardnar Mulloy of Miami eliminate Sumant Misra of India, 6-3, 6-2, 9-7, and Dinny Pails of Australia turn back Clarence (Nick) Carter of San Francisco, 6-1, 7-5, 6-2.

Umpires Are Assigned For Bi-State Contests

George Layman, chief of the umpiring staff of the Bi-State Baseball League, last night announced assignments for playoff games on Sunday.

Eddie Thompson, Stanley Davis and Kelly will officiate in the second game of the series between Hyndman and Westvaco at Westernport.

Arbiters for the second game of the series between the Amvets and Lonaconing at the latter place will be Ray Middleton, DiUbaldo and Andy Dunn.

Both games are scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m.

MacPhail Says He Can Express His Opinions

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10—(AP)—Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees, said tonight that "anytime Chandler or any one else labors under the impression I cannot express my opinions on baseball he is entirely wrong."

The fiery, red-head in an interview tonight, said he would go to Cincinnati tomorrow for a meeting "pertaining to world series matters" and not to confer with Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, regarding an investigation into an interview attributed to the Yankee president.

Rams Beat Yanks

DES MOINES, Sept. 10. (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams, with Bob Waterfield doing some expert passing, kicking, walloped the Boston Yanks 24 to 0 tonight in a National Football League exhibition game before 12,000 persons who watched the contest through a steady rain.

Johnny Goodman Loses In Amateur Golf Tournament

Frank Strafaci Wins Over Veteran, 3 And 2

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 10—(INS)—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., one of the pre-tourney favorites was eliminated late today in the fourth round of the U. S. National Amateur championship at Pebble Beach.

Johnny Dawson, the veteran Los Angeles amateur, dropped the Toledo "strong boy" from the tourney by beating him 1 up on the 20th green.

By BUSS NEWLAND

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 10—(AP)—Former National Titleholder Dick Chapman of Mamaroneck, N. Y. rode safely through the fourth round of the 1947 U. S. Amateur Golf Championship today but another ex-champ, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, found the going too tough.

Chapman, hewing close to par figures for the exacting Pebble Beach course, eliminated Jack Coyle, Springfield, Ill., 3 and 1. Goodman, winner of the 1937 title, bowed to Frank Strafaci, Flushing, N. Y., 3 and 2.

Strafaci, himself a national public links champion in 1935, played slightly better golf than his opponent. Goodman aided in his own downfall by missing short putts on the 9th and 12th holes, both about two feet long.

Chapman won the first two holes against Coyle and remained in front. He was 1 up at the turn with a par 36.

In third round matches this morning, Chapman won from John Daniel, Spokane, Wash., 2 and 1. Strafaci took a 1 up, decision from A. Richard Mayer, Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Goodman beat Boc Cochran, Overland, Mo., 6 and 5.

Otto Hofmeister a dark horse from Lewiston, Idaho, wrapped up a pair of matches, defeating Eli Bariteau, Jr., San Jose, ? and 1 in the fourth round after putting out Hal Stone, Jr., Bloomington, Ill., 2 and 1 in the morning.

Approximately 500 persons witnessed the contest in which Chubby's team was eliminated from the playoffs in two straight games.

Contract Stipulates Army Star Can't Play

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10—(INS)—A movie mogul who claims "exclusive contract" on Glenn Davis, Army's three-time All-American halfback, charged today that the gridiron star will not perform as a professional before 1949 — and maybe not then.

John R. Rogers, producer of a football flicker starring Davis and his running-mate Doc Blanchard, declared:

"If Dan Reeves, owner of the Los Angeles Rams, thinks he made a good deal in trading the Detroit Lions out of Glenn Davis, he is in for a very rude awakening.

"Davis will not be seen in action during this football season, or even next season.

"I have a contract on Davis for an exclusive one-year performance right during which time he cannot play professional football."

Rogers said his contracts with Blanchard and Davis call for "no professional football" for one year after the release date of their picture, "The Spirit Of West Point." The movie will start hitting neighborhood theaters late next month.

The producer also disclosed for the first time how Davis suffered a serious knee injury during football scenes for the film.

The injury kept "Mr. Outside" out of the all-star game in Chicago last month, and his million-buck gam buckled under him early in the Eastern All-Star charity contest with the New York Giants two weeks ago.

Rogers said Davis was tackled while snagging a pass during a movie replay of the Army-Notre Dame game.

"Tears came to Doc Blanchard's eyes," the producer said, "because it was the first time that 'time out' had been called on Davis since his freshman year at the Point."

Davis, now a second lieutenant at Fort Riley, was paid $25,000 cash and guaranteed a chunk of the profits of his movie.

The All-America Football Conference draft rights are held by the San Francisco 49'ers.

Chandler Probes Interview Given By Yankee Head

MacPhail Discussed Durocher Suspension

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10 (AP)—Larry MacPhail's standing in baseball became a matter of some question today after Commissioner A. B. Chandler began an investigation into an interview attributed to the New York Yankee head in violation of an order not to discuss the suspension of Leo Durocher.

MacPhail has a hotel reservation on file for tomorrow.

Chandler, who could not be reached at his office, declared "I'm not going to say anything about anything," when found at Crosley Field, where the Cincinnati Reds were playing the Boston Braves. He then turned back to the game.

Chandler asked Al Buck, baseball writer for the New York Post, to fly to Cincinnati for questioning in the matter. Buck advised the commissioner he could not make such an appointment because of his work.

Asks Copies Of Stories

Baseball writers on other New York evening newspapers who also quoted MacPhail said Chandler asked them to send him copies of their stories.

The writers quoted MacPhail as saying in Washington last Thursday that it was 100-to-1 shot that Durocher would not be back as manager at Brooklyn next year.

"Do you think that Durocher would have been suspended if Rickey (Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn club) hadn't wanted him suspended?" the reporters quoted MacPhail as saying.

MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees and at one time one of the most outspoken men in baseball, has denied that he authorized an interview.

When Chandler suspended Durocher on April 9 for the 1947 season for incidents "detrimental to baseball" after engaging in a verbal dispute with MacPhail and in which Rickey also became involved, he said:

"All parties to this controversy are silenced from the time this order is issued."

Quoted In Newark Paper

But MaPhail was not silenced. On April 18 he was quoted by Harry Nash in the Newark Evening News as saying "Commissioner Chandler didn't have sufficient ground on which to hang a five-minute suspension" on Durocher. A week later Chandler called MacPhail to Cincinnati. They were in conference all day and until the incident reported from Washington the Yankee club head had been about the most silent official in the big leagues.

The first four clubs of both the American and National leagues will meet with Chandler here tomorrow to discuss plans for the 1947 world series and MacPhail probably will represent the Yankees, who appear almost a cinch to win the pennant in the younger major circuit.

This Is The Series

The Dodgers move into St. Louis tonight for a three-game series that should have an important bearing on which National League team will meet the Bucky Harris-Larry MacPhail Yankees early in October. This Dodger-Cardinal series may not be decisive. It should be a big help in outlining the world series situation.

As some philosopher once wrote:

"'Stone walls do not a prison make?'
Bah—What tommy rot.
They may not make the prison—
But they help an awful lot."

This series at least should help an awful lot. The general opinion seems to be that most of the pressure is on the Cardinals. A big part of it is—but not all of it. There will also be terrific pressure on the Dodgers to duck a three-game slamming, on hostile grounds, against a ball club that year after year has been tougher than a charging rhinoceros down the stretch with the pennant at stake.

The Cardinals today are an older and an aging club that has just about run out its string, as far as future seasons are concerned. They are not the club they used to be—but they still have the impetus of other stretch-running years to carry them along.

They are only about as dangerous as a diamondback with fifteen rattles. They may not strike as quickly—but they are still packed with poison. Slaughter—Musial—Marion—Moore — Kurowski — Dickson — Pollet — Munger — you can't shove them around. They are ball players.

In a series of this sort, experience is something you can't overlook. It is even more important than the keen surge of a younger Dodger club, game to the hilt, fast and scrappy, but still not as well equipped for any such vital situation. This was proved a year ago when the two finished in a dead heat, with the Cardinals romping away with the two decisive play-off games. And from that point moving on to surround and lasso the Red Sox in the series!

For twenty years the Cardinals have been a tough breed when the indigo chips were on the table. They have won most of the world series titles that the National League has picked up.

I happen to know this bunch better than any team in either major league. They look and act like gentlemen off the field—but they have what it takes to win a ball game from the first pitch to the final out. I can say I have never met a finer bunch, in the history of what is known as our "National Game." Clean, decent, hustling, serious and packed with ability. And never overpaid.

The Dodger Side

Psychology is a big part of sport. It has won and has lost more contests than the average public ever knows about. It is an inner state of mind, a cross between the conscious and the sub-conscious mind, that is too difficult to explain in a few words.

The psychology of this series is against the Dodgers. They come to St. Louis with a healthy margin. They are the team expected to win. They are in a spot where they can't afford to lose as Dodger teams in 1942 and 1946 lost after having leads of 10 and 7½ games—17½ games blown down the stretch. This shouldn't happen again if the Dodgers are to duck the charge of being Cardinal doormats.

The Dodgers are a much younger team—a team just reaching the rim of the promised land. Robinson and Jorgensen are rookies. Furillo is just getting under way. Branca is just 21 years old. Edwards is a second year catcher—another kid. These are all key men.

Most of the Dodger pitchers are young. Youth means speed and hustling—it usually means daring and lack of fear. It also means inconsistency and at times uncertainty, when thrown against greater experience, as the major test arrives.

The Dodgers feel that it would be a disgrace not to win the pennant with the lead they had built up during their last western tour.

They lost four games to the Cardinals in one series, and they won three games from the Cardinals later on. That's the way it has been so far with the Cardinals leading ten games to nine.

Neither team has shown any outstanding star. Neither team has had a Johnny Mize, a Ted Williams, a Ewell Blackwell, a Harry Walker. Neither the Cardinals nor the Dodgers have been depending on any one, two or three men. They have both been teams, composed of individuals on a level of ability.

They have been two hard-hustling ball clubs, ably handled by Burt Shotton and Eddie Dyer, who happen to have the respect and the liking or affection of their ball players—with no idea of commiting mayhem on any umpire. Both have had their share of sour luck at one time or another. Yet neither has squawked nor complained. For both Shotton and Dyer happen to be sportsmen first—which is the way it should be in sport. If sport isn't a sham.

You can say the same for Bucky Harris, who will be called on to meet either Shotton or Dyer. All anyone can say without guessing is that the Dodgers have an important mathematical advantage at this late stage of the race.

Detroit Race Stewards Probe Drugging Charge

DETROIT, Sept. 10. (INS)—Stewards at the Detroit Fairgrounds Track today scratched the horses of New Orleans Trainer Karl Blank, after a positive drug report on a Monday winner.

The Chicago testing laboratory reported a saliva test on Frank's Pal, which won the fourth race Monday by two lengths to pay $12.20, showed a positive reaction for benzedrine.

The stewards ordered Blank to appear for a hearing tomorrow morning, and held up the purse. Son Wolf and Periair, trained by Blank, were ordered scratched today from the seventh race.

Blank had claimed Frank's Pal for $3,000 from Anthony Ferra of New Orleans. Ferra claimed the horse back for $3,500 after Monday's victory, and the stewards announced Frank's Pal would not be banned since he is in the possession of his former owner.

This was the second time a trainer had been suspended this season on drug charges.

I happen to know this bunch better than any team in either major league. They look and act like gentlemen off the field—but they have what it takes to win a ball game from the first pitch to the final out. I can say I have never met a finer bunch, in the history of what is known as our "National Game." Clean, decent, hustling, serious and packed with ability. And never overpaid.

The Dodger Side

Psychology is a big part of sport. It has won and has lost more contests than the average public ever knows about. It is an inner state of mind, a cross between the conscious and the sub-conscious mind, that is too difficult to explain in a few words.

The psychology of this series is against the Dodgers. They come to St. Louis with a healthy margin. They are the team expected to win. They are in a spot where they can't afford to lose as Dodger teams in 1942 and 1946 lost after having leads of 10 and 7½ games—17½ games blown down the stretch. This shouldn't happen again if the Dodgers are to duck the charge of being Cardinal doormats.

The Dodgers are a much younger team—a team just reaching the rim of the promised land. Robinson and Jorgensen are rookies. Furillo is just getting under way. Branca is just 21 years old. Edwards is a second year catcher—another kid. These are all key men.

Most of the Dodger pitchers are young. Youth means speed and hustling—it usually means daring and lack of fear. It also means inconsistency and at times uncertainty, when thrown against greater experience, as the major test arrives.

The Dodgers feel that it would be a disgrace not to win the pennant with the lead they had built up during their last western tour.

They lost four games to the Cardinals in one series, and they won three games from the Cardinals later on. That's the way it has been so far with the Cardinals leading ten games to nine.

Neither team has shown any outstanding star. Neither team has had a Johnny Mize, a Ted Williams, a Ewell Blackwell, a Harry Walker. Neither the Cardinals nor the Dodgers have been depending on any one, two or three men. They have both been teams, composed of individuals on a level of ability.

They have been two hard-hustling ball clubs, ably handled by Burt Shotton and Eddie Dyer, who happen to have the respect and the liking or affection of their ball players—with no idea of commiting mayhem on any umpire. Both have had their share of sour luck at one time or another. Yet neither has squawked nor complained. For both Shotton and Dyer happen to be sportsmen first—which is the way it should be in sport. If sport isn't a sham.

You can say the same for Bucky Harris, who will be called on to meet either Shotton or Dyer. All anyone can say without guessing is that the Dodgers have an important mathematical advantage at this late stage of the race.

Detroit Race Stewards Probe Drugging Charge

DETROIT, Sept. 10. (INS)—Stewards at the Detroit Fairgrounds Track today scratched the horses of New Orleans Trainer Karl Blank, after a positive drug report on a Monday winner.

The Chicago testing laboratory reported a saliva test on Frank's Pal, which won the fourth race Monday by two lengths to pay $12.20, showed a positive reaction for benzedrine.

The stewards ordered Blank to appear for a hearing tomorrow morning, and held up the purse. Son Wolf and Periair, trained by Blank, were ordered scratched today from the seventh race.

Blank had claimed Frank's Pal for $3,000 from Anthony Ferra of New Orleans. Ferra claimed the horse back for $3,500 after Monday's victory, and the stewards announced Frank's Pal would not be banned since he is in the possession of his former owner.

This was the second time a trainer had been suspended this season on drug charges.

Softball Teams Resume Playoffs

Amvets Play Lacy's, Elks Oppose Moose

Teams of two local softball leagues will resume play today in championship series.

At Stitcher Field, Lacy's Delicatets and the Cumberland Amvets will clash in the second game of their series for the City League crown.

At Community Park, the B.P.O. Elks and Loyal Order of Moose will collide in the opening game of the best-of-three-series for the Rocking Chair League title.

Today's game in North End is actually the third between the Delicatets and Amvets, the first having ended in a 3-3 draw, darkness halting hostilities in the ninth inning. On Tuesday, Lacy's aggregation walloped the boys from J. Louis Wolford Post by the score of 10-1. The team winning three games will be crowned champions of the 10-club circuit.

Starting time for the game at Stitcher Field will be 6 p. m.

The Rocking Chair League playoffs will be concluded minus the K. of C. and American Legion teams, which finished 1-2 during the regular season.

Manager "Red" Payne's Moose team eliminated the Legion by copping two straight and the Elks made it two in a row over the K. of C.

The Elks-Moose game will get under way at 6:15 p. m.

During the regular season the teams split even in four games. The two wins credited to the Moose were shutouts.

Softball Teams Resume Playoffs

Amvets Play Lacy's, Elks Oppose Moose

Teams of two local softball leagues will resume play today in championship series.

At Stitcher Field, Lacy's Delicatets and the Cumberland Amvets will clash in the second game of their series for the City League crown.

At Community Park, the B.P.O. Elks and Loyal Order of Moose will collide in the opening game of the best-of-three-series for the Rocking Chair League title.

Today's game in North End is actually the third between the Delicatets and Amvets, the first having ended in a 3-3 draw, darkness halting hostilities in the ninth inning. On Tuesday, Lacy's aggregation walloped the boys from J. Louis Wolford Post by the score of 10-1. The team winning three games will be crowned champions of the 10-club circuit.

Starting time for the game at Stitcher Field will be 6 p. m.

The Rocking Chair League playoffs will be concluded minus the K. of C. and American Legion teams, which finished 1-2 during the regular season.

Manager "Red" Payne's Moose team eliminated the Legion by copping two straight and the Elks made it two in a row over the K. of C.

The Elks-Moose game will get under way at 6:15 p. m.

During the regular season the teams split even in four games. The two wins credited to the Moose were shutouts.

SUCH POPULARITY IS VERY EMBARRASSING

It's no fun to be on a waiting list—and we hope that it won't be too long before all of the people who want to switch to Gas heating can do so.

In the meantime it is vitally necessary that we maintain our present gas heating restrictions, since the unprecedented demand for Gas still exceeds the supply. We are making every effort to increase our supply and distribution facilities in order that you, too, may soon have Gas heat.

Joseph H. Horner Is Sentenced For Black Marketing

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 11—T-5 Joseph H. Horner, 156 Center Street, Keyser, was sentenced to one year in prison at hard labor and given a dishonorable discharge from the Army after conviction on black market charges, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Yokohama.

Court-martial testimony of Army investigators said evidence of illicit activities found in his locker included 22,000 yen ($440), seven Army post exchange cards, $242 in military script and $22 in U. S. currency. The investigators said Horner had been dealing in cigarettes and whisky.

Charges against the 19-year-old former Keyser High School football star, came as a complete surprise to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Horner.

Mrs. Horner said he entered the Army in April, 1946, and had been overseas a year September 1.

In June, Mrs. Horner said, she received a letter in which he wrote of a surprise he had received when his sergeant told him he could come home at the end of the month to re-enlist.

The last letter the family received was August 11, and they attributed the fact his mail was coming more slowly to the belief their son was on his way home.

Mr. and Mrs. Horner received a telegram shortly before noon today citing the charges against their son.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10—(INS)—Katharine Hepburn's ruffled feelings—if they were ruffled—have been assuaged by a new story which M-G-M has bought, which she likes very much, called "The Saintly Miss Peters."

Louella Parsons

It's an original by William Roberts, and because it is a romantic comedy about two young school teachers, Paul Jones, who did so well by Bob Hope's comedy, will produce.

Jane Russell certainly has no reason to gripe about Howard Hughes, for he is lending her to Edward Alperson after she finishes making "Pale Face" with Bob Hope.

For years, Howard refused to lend the much publicized Jane and she was a very unhappy girl, because she felt since he wasn't making any more pictures, and "The Outlaw," which she made, had not been released, she had no chance to get ahead.

In the Alperson movie, "Rose Of Cimarron," Jane will have the role of an untamed gun woman, sort of a feminine counterpart of "Little Caesar." The story is the W. R. Burnett novel which Alperson is making for 20th, and which Burnett is adapting.

When Dore Schary, now head of R.K.O. productions was a struggling writer, he roomed with another young writer by the name of Don Hartman. Well, today Dore signed Don to a long term deal as a producer-director and they immediately conferred on a Ginger Rogers story.

Lenoid Kinskey re-married his Viennese countess wife, Iphigenie Castiglioni on the fifth anniversary of their first marriage.

The Kinskeys had their first ceremony performed in Mexico City in 1942, and because Mexican ceremonies sometimes do not hold, and for sentimental reasons, they decided to take their vows a second time.

Marjorie Rambeau, one of our finest actresses, is well enough to return to the screen after the automobile accident in which she was so seriously injured two years ago. Her sister was killed in that same accident.

Marjorie has signed for a wonderful part in "Walls Of Jericho" to be produced by 20th Century-Fox.

"I wish you'd write something about my little girl, she's an actress," my waiter at the Del Mar Jockey Club said to me last week. His name is Ewald Lace and he is the father of 11-year-old Ann Lace, who had small parts in "Secret Heart," "My Brother Talks To Horses," and several other movies.

Now it seems Walt Disney is considering her for an important part in "Alice In Wonderland," which is good news to little Ann and her dad.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: That's a very pretty new sapphire ring Dale Evans is wearing.

Pat Dane is concentrating on Lew Wertheimer and has had dinner with him this past week for the third time.

Mrs. Richard K. Polimer, wife of the Hollywood producer, has dated the stork for some time this winter.

Sophie Tucker, like Tennyson's brook, goes on and on. She sang song after song at her Florentine Gardens opening, to the delight of Fannie Brice, Sid Grauman, Phil Baker and many other old friends.

Marie Wilson and Harry Richman hurried from their own shows to give the mammy singer a hand. Sophie was done to the teeth in ermine and orchids, with a fascinating and tricky hair-do.

The dance team of Grace Poggi and Igor Dega (Ann Dvorak's bridegroom) I thought especially good.

Rory Flynn, five and a half month old baby of Errol Flynn and Nora Eddington, has been very sick with chicken pox. While her parents are in Jamaica, the baby is still with Nora's parents. Erroll is due back in two weeks to start work in "Don Juan."

The Jock McLeans have been the house guests of Sylvia Fairbanks Stanley. Sylvia is now living in her Santa Monica home. She came west to see her boy friend, Bob Sweeney, play football.

Where was Vivi Stokes? The boy friend, Lawrence Tierney, was buying dinner for Nell King at Coronet.

Bette Davis' husband, William Grant Sherry, has received his pilot's license and expects to buy a plane. Bette was with him when he received his license.

Buddy Pepper's new song, "Don't Tell Me," from "The Hucksters" is meeting with flattering success.

Harry James and his band are flying to Cuba for an engagement early in October.

Johnny Mack Brown's 18-year-old daughter, Jane Harriet, will attend Johnny's alma mater, the University of Alabama. Remember Johnny Mack was an All-American football player?

That's all today.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10—(INS)—Katharine Hepburn's ruffled feelings—if they were ruffled—have been assuaged by a new story which M-G-M has bought, which she likes very much, called "The Saintly Miss Peters."

It's an original by William Roberts, and because it is a romantic comedy about two young school teachers, Paul Jones, who did so well by Bob Hope's comedy, will produce.

Louella Parsons

Jane Russell certainly has no reason to gripe about Howard Hughes, for he is lending her to Edward Alperson after she finishes making "Pale Face" with Bob Hope.

For years, Howard refused to lend the much publicized Jane and she was a very unhappy girl, because she felt since he wasn't making any more pictures, and "The Outlaw," which she made, had not been released, she had no chance to get ahead.

In the Alperson movie, "Rose Of Cimarron," Jane will have the role of an untamed gun woman, sort of a feminine counterpart of "Little Caesar." The story is the W. R. Burnett novel which Alperson is making for 20th, and which Burnett is adapting.

When Dore Schary, now head of R.K.O. productions was a struggling writer, he roomed with another young writer by the name of Don Hartman. Well, today Dore signed Don to a long term deal as a producer-director and they immediately conferred on a Ginger Rogers story.

Lenoid Kinskey re-married his Viennese countess wife, Iphigenie Castiglioni on the fifth anniversary of their first marriage.

The Kinskeys had their first ceremony performed in Mexico City in 1942, and because Mexican ceremonies sometimes do not hold, and for sentimental reasons, they decided to take their vows a second time.

Marjorie Rambeau, one of our finest actresses, is well enough to return to the screen after the automobile accident in which she was so seriously injured two years ago. Her sister was killed in that same accident.

Marjorie has signed for a wonderful part in "Walls Of Jericho" to be produced by 20th Century-Fox.

"I wish you'd write something about my little girl, she's an actress," my waiter at the Del Mar Jockey Club said to me last week.

His name is Ewald Lace and he is the father of 11-year-old Ann Lace, who had small parts in "Secret Heart," "My Brother Talks To Horses," and several other movies.

Now it seems Walt Disney is considering her for an important part in "Alice In Wonderland," which is good news to little Ann and her dad.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: That's a very pretty new sapphire ring Dale Evans is wearing.

Pat Dane is concentrating on Lew Wertheimer and has had dinner with him this past week for the third time.

Mrs. Richard K. Polimer, wife of the Hollywood producer, has dated the stork for some time this winter.

Sophie Tucker, like Tennyson's brook, goes on and on. She sang song after song at her Florentine Gardens opening, to the delight of Fannie Brice, Sid Grauman, Phil Baker and many other old friends.

Marie Wilson and Harry Richman hurried from their own shows to give the mammy singer a hand. Sophie was done to the teeth in ermine and orchids, with a fascinating and tricky hair-do.

The dance team of Grace Poggi and Igor Dega (Ann Dvorak's bridegroom) I thought especially good.

Rory Flynn, five and a half month old baby of Errol Flynn and Nora Eddington, has been very sick with chicken pox. While her parents are in Jamaica, the baby is still with Nora's parents. Erroll is due back in two weeks to start work in "Don Juan."

The Jock McLeans have been the house guests of Sylvia Fairbanks Stanley. Sylvia is now living in her Santa Monica home. She came west to see her boy friend, Bob Sweeney, play football.

Where was Vivi Stokes? The boy friend, Lawrence Tierney, was buying dinner for Nell King at Coronet.

Bette Davis' husband, William Grant Sherry, has received his pilot's license and expects to buy a plane. Bette was with him when he received his license.

Buddy Pepper's new song, "Don't Tell Me," from "The Hucksters" is meeting with flattering success.

Harry James and his band are flying to Cuba for an engagement early in October.

Johnny Mack Brown's 18-year-old daughter, Jane Harriet, will attend Johnny's alma mater, the University of Alabama. Remember Johnny Mack was an All-American football player?

That's all today.

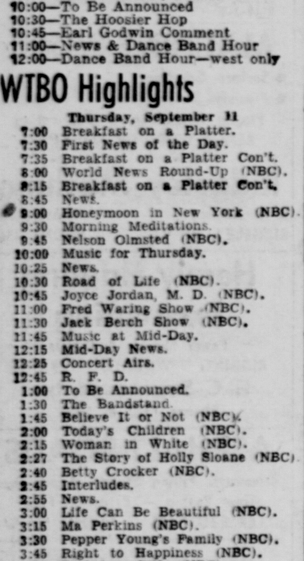
SALLY'S SALLIES



RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Damm

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 10—Walter J. Damm, who runs station WTMJ in Milwaukee with single-minded fury and ruthless efficiency, has—to quote a colleague—"always been able to please a crowd but never been able to please an individual." Mr Damm, one of the most phenomenally successful station operators in the country, has never been accused of popularity. Around his own station when he is safely out of earshot, his last name is prefaced profanely with that of the Lord. This phrase happily combines epithet with a singularly apt description of Mr. Damm's dictatorial personality.

John Crosby

Spiteful former employees will tell you that Damm got where he is over a lot of dead bodies. However, one of his former associates, who has immense respect for Damm's undoubted ability, once wrote him: "No matter what they say about you, I still think you did it the hard way." The associate still considers this a great compliment. In the early twenties, Damm was a combination station manager, program director, announcer, engineer and janitor of WTMJ. Though he now occupies a lush green and gold office and hold the title of vice president and general manager in charge of radio of "The Milwaukee Journal" which owns the station, Damm still exercises virtually all of his original functions. Damm dominates every foot of WTMJ's $1,000,000 Radio City from the transmitting tower to the men's room (which he designed).

Largely because of Damm's ferocious egotism, pertinacity and blind bull-headedness, WTMJ is one of the richest and most successful, possibly the most individual and easily the most independent station in the United States today.

WTMJ, which is the N.B.C. outlet in Milwaukee, is a 50,000-watt station which claims that an average of 57 per cent of all available listeners are tuned to it all day every day. Damm is one of the few, possibly the only, broadcaster who tells advertisers where they can go and what they can do when they get there. No advertiser may buy time on WTMJ. An advertiser may (if Mr. Damm approves) buy a plug on one of WTMJ's own programs or he may (if Damm is in an unusually good mood) sponsor one of WTMJ's home-owned programs (if one is available and none are).

WTMJ owns all of its programs except one. The lone exception is a program of local musical talent originally developed by the station. It has been sponsored for years by the First National Bank of Milwaukee. Damm got disgusted years ago with the programs brought to him by advertising agencies. "They want to buy a half hour for 'The Texas Rangers' for thirteen weeks," he will tell you explosively. "You ask 'em what the hell goes in there after thirteen weeks and they have no interest in it. What good is thirteen weeks? You just begin to get an audience and the program goes off the air."

Damm feels a program should be on the air every day—or at least five days a week—fifty-two weeks a year, presumably forever. Any Milwaukee radio fan can tell you what's on WTMJ at any time because the programs are never changed. From 5:30 to 8:30 a. m. he will hear "The Top of the Morning," a program of records, news and corny comedy, which has been on the air, same time same station, for seventeen years. At 8:30 he will hear Nancy Gray, a woman commentator, who speaks in a voice of overwhelming gentility of "one's taste" and "one's culture" and of Beauty. Her program is fifteen years old. At noon he'll hear the Grenadiers, a German band which mixes terrible but good natured comedy with perfectly atrocious music. It is fifteen years old too. Ten sponsors now pay WTMJ $180,000 a year to get their products mentioned on the Grenadiers program. "If I sold the time at regular card rates and let the advertiser bring in his own program, we'd make $80,000" says Damm.

Once a program establishes itself on WTJM it remains there at the same time through wars, pestilence or advertising famine. The station's schedule of 11:55 a. m. news has remained unchanged since the station opened. An advertiser may sponsor this five minutes of news but he could not put anything in its place. Damm almost gets apoplectic whenever he is reminded that N.B.C.'s fine stable of topflight comedians are permitted to go off the air for the summer. He used to work twenty hours a day, seven days a week for WTMJ, and he still feels that the thirteen-week vacation enjoyed by the comedians is outrageous pampering.

He is incensed whenever an N.B.C. program is moved from one time to another and horrified when it moves to another network. "N.B.C. built Dinah Shore," he will moan. "N.B.C. made her famous and then let her get away to C.B.S. It could never happen here."

Originally the Grenadiers program was studded with German accent comedy patterned after Jack Pearls then popular comedy, which pleased Milwaukees large German population. Long after Pearl had slipped into obscurity and after the Milwaukee Germans were greatly outnumbered by Poles and Italians, the German accent comedy remained. It took Adolf Hitler and the Nazis to win Damms approval to drop the German accent, one of the few changes in a WTMJ program in years.

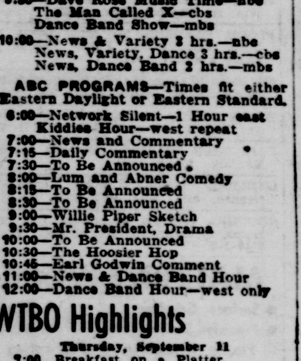
SALLY'S SALLIES



"But really isn't this carrying an old-fashioned honeymoon too far?"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Damm

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 10—Walter J. Damm, who runs station WTMJ in Milwaukee with single-minded fury and ruthless efficiency, has—to quote a colleague—"always been able to please a crowd but never been able to please an individual." Mr Damm, one of the most phenomenally successful station operators in the country, has never been accused of popularity.

John Crosby

Around his own station when he is safely out of earshot, his last name is prefaced profanely with that of the Lord. This phrase happily combines epithet with a singularly apt description of Mr. Damm's dictatorial personality.

Spiteful former employees will tell you that Damm got where he is over a lot of dead bodies. However, one of his former associates, who has immense respect for Damm's undoubted ability, once wrote him: "No matter what they say about you, I still think you did it the hard way." The associate still considers this a great compliment. In the early twenties, Damm was a combination station manager, program director, announcer, engineer and janitor of WTMJ. Though he now occupies a lush green and gold office and hold the title of vice president and general manager in charge of radio of "The Milwaukee Journal" which owns the station, Damm still exercises virtually all of his original functions. Damm dominates every foot of WTMJ's $1,000,000 Radio City from the transmitting tower to the men's room (which he designed).

Largely because of Damm's ferocious egotism, pertinacity and blind bull-headedness, WTMJ is one of the richest and most successful, possibly the most individual and easily the most independent station in the United States today.

WTMJ, which is the N.B.C. outlet in Milwaukee, is a 50,000-watt station which claims that an average of 57 per cent of all available listeners are tuned to it all day every day. Damm is one of the few, possibly the only, broadcaster who tells advertisers where they can go and what they can do when they get there. No advertiser may buy time on WTMJ. An advertiser may (if Mr. Damm approves) buy a plug on one of WTMJ's own programs or he may (if Damm is in an unusually good mood) sponsor one of WTMJ's home-owned programs (if one is available and none are).

WTMJ owns all of its programs except one. The lone exception is a program of local musical talent originally developed by the station. It has been sponsored for years by the First National Bank of Milwaukee. Damm got disgusted years ago with the programs brought to him by advertising agencies. "They want to buy a half hour for 'The Texas Rangers' for thirteen weeks," he will tell you explosively. "You ask 'em what the hell goes in there after thirteen weeks and they have no interest in it. What good is thirteen weeks? You just begin to get an audience and the program goes off the air."

Damm feels a program should be on the air every day—or at least five days a week—fifty-two weeks a year, presumably forever. Any Milwaukee radio fan can tell you what's on WTMJ at any time because the programs are never changed. From 5:30 to 8:30 a. m. he will hear "The Top of the Morning," a program of records, news and corny comedy, which has been on the air, same time same station, for seventeen years. At 8:30 he will hear Nancy Gray, a woman commentator, who speaks in a voice of overwhelming gentility of "one's taste" and "one's culture" and of Beauty. Her program is fifteen years old. At noon he'll hear the Grenadiers, a German band which mixes terrible but good natured comedy with perfectly atrocious music. It is fifteen years old too. Ten sponsors now pay WTMJ $180,000 a year to get their products mentioned on the Grenadiers program. "If I sold the time at regular card rates and let the advertiser bring in his own program, we'd make $80,000" says Damm.

Once a program establishes itself on WTJM it remains there at the same time through wars, pestilence or advertising famine. The station's schedule of 11:55 a. m. news has remained unchanged since the station opened. An advertiser may sponsor this five minutes of news but he could not put anything in its place. Damm almost gets apoplectic whenever he is reminded that N.B.C.'s fine stable of topflight comedians are permitted to go off the air for the summer. He used to work twenty hours a day, seven days a week for WTMJ, and he still feels that the thirteen-week vacation enjoyed by the comedians is outrageous pampering.

He is incensed whenever an N.B.C. program is moved from one time to another and horrified when it moves to another network. "N.B.C. built Dinah Shore," he will moan. "N.B.C. made her famous and then let her get away to C.B.S. It could never happen here."

Originally the Grenadiers program was studded with German accent comedy patterned after Jack Pearls then popular comedy, which pleased Milwaukees large German population. Long after Pearl had slipped into obscurity and after the Milwaukee Germans were greatly outnumbered by Poles and Italians, the German accent comedy remained. It took Adolf Hitler and the Nazis to win Damms approval to drop the German accent, one of the few changes in a WTMJ program in years.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Mrs. Catherine Landis Lemon, who died 12 years ago, Sept. 11, 1935.

Memories and treasures none can steal—
Death leaves a heartache none can heal;
Some have forgotten you, now that you're gone,
But we shall remember you, no matter how long.
Flowers we place upon your grave
Will wither and decay,
But love for the one who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.

Sadly missed by MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS, and BROTHERS.

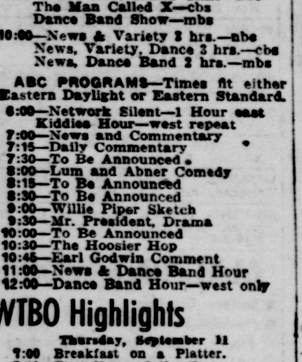
SALLY'S SALLIES



"But really isn't this carrying an old-fashioned honeymoon too far?"

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Damm

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 10—Walter J. Damm, who runs station WTMJ in Milwaukee with single-minded fury and ruthless efficiency, has—to quote a colleague—"always been able to please a crowd but never been able to please an individual." Mr Damm, one of the most phenomenally successful station operators in the country, has never been accused of popularity. Around his own station when he is safely out of earshot, his last name is prefaced profanely with that of the Lord. This phrase happily combines epithet with a singularly apt description of Mr. Damm's dictatorial personality.

John Crosby

Spiteful former employees will tell you that Damm got where he is over a lot of dead bodies. However, one of his former associates, who has immense respect for Damm's undoubted ability, once wrote him: "No matter what they say about you, I still think you did it the hard way." The associate still considers this a great compliment. In the early twenties, Damm was a combination station manager, program director, announcer, engineer and janitor of WTMJ. Though he now occupies a lush green and gold office and hold the title of vice president and general manager in charge of radio of "The Milwaukee Journal" which owns the station, Damm still exercises virtually all of his original functions. Damm dominates every foot of WTMJ's $1,000,000 Radio City from the transmitting tower to the men's room (which he designed).

Largely because of Damm's ferocious egotism, pertinacity and blind bull-headedness, WTMJ is one of the richest and most successful, possibly the most individual and easily the most independent station in the United States today.

WTMJ, which is the N.B.C. outlet in Milwaukee, is a 50,000-watt station which claims that an average of 57 per cent of all available listeners are tuned to it all day every day. Damm is one of the few, possibly the only, broadcaster who tells advertisers where they can go and what they can do when they get there. No advertiser may buy time on WTMJ. An advertiser may (if Mr. Damm approves) buy a plug on one of WTMJ's own programs or he may (if Damm is in an unusually good mood) sponsor one of WTMJ's home-owned programs (if one is available and none are).

WTMJ owns all of its programs except one. The lone exception is a program of local musical talent originally developed by the station. It has been sponsored for years by the First National Bank of Milwaukee. Damm got disgusted years ago with the programs brought to him by advertising agencies. "They want to buy a half hour for 'The Texas Rangers' for thirteen weeks," he will tell you explosively. "You ask 'em what the hell goes in there after thirteen weeks and they have no interest in it. What good is thirteen weeks? You just begin to get an audience and the program goes off the air."

Damm feels a program should be on the air every day—or at least five days a week—fifty-two weeks a year, presumably forever. Any Milwaukee radio fan can tell you what's on WTMJ at any time because the programs are never changed. From 5:30 to 8:30 a. m. he will hear "The Top of the Morning," a program of records, news and corny comedy, which has been on the air, same time same station, for seventeen years. At 8:30 he will hear Nancy Gray, a woman commentator, who speaks in a voice of overwhelming gentility of "one's taste" and "one's culture" and of Beauty. Her program is fifteen years old. At noon he'll hear the Grenadiers, a German band which mixes terrible but good natured comedy with perfectly atrocious music. It is fifteen years old too. Ten sponsors now pay WTMJ $180,000 a year to get their products mentioned on the Grenadiers program. "If I sold the time at regular card rates and let the advertiser bring in his own program, we'd make $80,000" says Damm.

Once a program establishes itself on WTJM it remains there at the same time through wars, pestilence or advertising famine. The station's schedule of 11:55 a. m. news has remained unchanged since the station opened. An advertiser may sponsor this five minutes of news but he could not put anything in its place. Damm almost gets apoplectic whenever he is reminded that N.B.C.'s fine stable of topflight comedians are permitted to go off the air for the summer. He used to work twenty hours a day, seven days a week for WTMJ, and he still feels that the thirteen-week vacation enjoyed by the comedians is outrageous pampering.

He is incensed whenever an N.B.C. program is moved from one time to another and horrified when it moves to another network. "N.B.C. built Dinah Shore," he will moan. "N.B.C. made her famous and then let her get away to C.B.S. It could never happen here."

Originally the Grenadiers program was studded with German accent comedy patterned after Jack Pearls then popular comedy, which pleased Milwaukees large German population. Long after Pearl had slipped into obscurity and after the Milwaukee Germans were greatly outnumbered by Poles and Italians, the German accent comedy remained. It took Adolf Hitler and the Nazis to win Damms approval to drop the German accent, one of the few changes in a WTMJ program in years.

Gelert, dog hero of ancient legend, belonged to Prince Llewellyn, son-in-law of King John of England. Returning one day from a hunt, Llewellyn found his child's cradle empty and the dog's mouth smeared with blood. He slew Gelert, but then saw the child unhurt and beside it the body of a wolf which Gelert had slain. Llewellyn, in self-reproach, raised a monument over the body of the faithful brute, and to this day the place is called Beth Gelert or Gelert's Grave.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Michael D. Perry vs. Juanita W. Perry, No. 20,147. Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRMONII from the defendant.

The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married at San Bernadino, California, on the nineteenth day of April, 1945, and lived together three days at which time the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Complainant, and that the abandonment and desertion has been continuous and unbroken since that date, that there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation, and that no children were born of the marriage. The bill further states that the Complainant has been a resident of the state of Maryland, for more than two years next before the bringing of this suit, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of the state of Maryland, and when last heard from, was a resident of the state of California.

It is thereupon this 26th day of August, 1947, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1947, giving notification to the absentee Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning her to be or appear in this Court either in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Clerk.

Buying Spurt In Last Hour Puts Market Leaders In Plus Column

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — The stock market shifted through a sleepy session during most of today's proceedings, as speculation again centered on heavy commodity trading, but a buying spurt in the final hour put most leaders in the plus column for gains of fractions to two or more points.

Mild irregularity persisted until the final hour when there was a burst of short coverings and investment demand that erased many early declines and turned trends upward. Transfers of 740,000 shares compared with 750,000 the day before with 290,000 appearing in the concluding hour.

Touching 1947 tops in response to pleasing dividends were Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal, up eight points at 34; Island Creek Coal five at 52½ and Chicago Pneumatic Tool 2½ at 30½. American Woolen shot up 4⅝ at 44.

Ahead one to two or so were Twentieth Century-Fox at 27⅜, Warner Bros. 14⅞, Paramount Pictures 23, Universal Pictures 17½, Loew's 21, United States Steel 70, Bethlehem 87½, Youngstown Sheet 67¾, Chrysler 58½, Goodrich 52½, J. I. Case 37⅜, Douglas Aircraft 60½, Sperry 21⅜, Anaconda 34¾, Kennecott 45, Dow Chemical 37¼, Owens-Illinois 72½, International Paper 48, Cudahy 51½, Texas Pacific Land Trust 26⅞, United Fruit 56¾ and Allied Chemical 183½.

Small declines were retained by Santa Fe, New York Central, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, North American, American Can, du Pont and J. C. Penney.

In the forward section of the Curb were National Pressure Cooker, Irving Air Chute, Sherwin-Williams, Creole Petroleum, Ryan Consolidated Petroleum, International Products and Cities Service. Turnover here was 190,000 shares versus 180,000 yesterday.

Demand for a selected group of rails countered downward trends elsewhere in the bond market, including United State governments.

United States governments in the over-the-counter market lost 1/32 to 6/32 of a point, with the Victory Loan 2½s of 1967-'72 off 3/32 at 102 24/32 bid.

Sales totaled $3,570,000 compared with $3,671,000 Tuesday.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Mrs. Catherine Landis Lemon, who died 12 years ago, Sept. 11, 1935.

Death leaves a heartache none can heal;

Will never fade away.

Typhoid Germs Found In Patterson's Creek

Campers Warned Not To Use Water

Fear of a typhoid epidemic resulting from continued use of Patterson's Creek waters for recreation purposes yesterday resulted in Mineral County, W. Va., Health authorities issuing a warning that coli organisms have been detected in the stream.

Three new cases of typhoid fever in the Keyser area have been traced to the Patterson Creek waters where the victims were swimming, according to William F. Waller, senior sanitation officer of Mineral County.

Waller explained that numerous coli organisms, of which the typhoid germ is a member, have been found in the creek waters just below Burlington, W. Va., and said it was within 10 miles of that area that the most recent victims admitted swimming.

Terming the possibilities that may arise from continued use of the waters "serious," Waller explained that it would be impossible to correct the situation this year and said removal of the coli organisms from the stream may take years.

The Patterson Creek waters have for years been a summer camping and recreation area for many tri-state area residents, according to health officials, and the contaminated conditions of the stream now present a serious problem.

While most of the coli organisms have been detected in the area immediately below Burlington, Waller explained that the Mineral County Health Department is more concerned with that section and for that reason has centered experiments there.

There is a very good possibility that the germs could be carried farther down the stream, he declared, and added that some of the disease organisms have been detected as much as 10 miles below Burlington.

In the past month at least four new cases of typhoid have been reported in Mineral County, according to Waller, and of these three have been traced to the creek waters with "reasonable certainty."

As a result of the discovery of germs in the creek, Dr. Harry F. Coffman, health officer, has ordered a public immunization clinic to be held Saturday morning in the Mineral County Court House, Waller said, adding that he advises all residents of the area to take advantage of precautions.

Waller said that the condition is caused partially by the sewage that is emptied into the stream at Burlington, but explained other sources of infection probably exist above that West Virginia community.

Residents of the areas bordering on the creek were also advised not to use the creek as a source of drinking or bathing water nor to use the water from nearby wells and springs.

No estimate could be obtained as to the number of persons who swim in the creek daily, but health authorities declared "large numbers" of the tri-state population have been spending vacation periods at cabins located along the stream.

South End Veteran Turns Hobby Into Small Industry In New Field

Arthur C. Morgan Works In Plastics

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT

A hobby which he started before his entry into the Army Air Forces during the war has grown to a point where Arthur C. Morgan, 30, of 8 Pennsylvania Avenue, is gradually establishing a new and novel small industry in Cumberland.

Morgan, a graduate of Pennsylvania Avenue High School in 1935 and an employe of the Celanese Corporation plant here for eight years, became interested in the field of plastics "just by reading about them." Then he bought a few pieces of plastic glass and started to make trinkets of one kind or another for his own amusement and to please his friends.

Gradually he acquired a small amount of machinery and tools, and his hobby became more and more fascinating, as the field of plastics broadened with improved materials, and plastics became more popular.

When he entered the Army Air Forces in April, 1943, Morgan first went to Miami, Fla., was later transferred to Scott Field at Lincoln, Neb., and finally went to Bryan Field, where Texas A. and M. College is located. Here he learned that some work was being done in plastics and signified his interest in the work. He was transferred immediately, and spent the next two years experimenting and working with plastics.

Has Model Collection

The Air Corps instructors needed training aids and Morgan duplicated practically all the instruments used in planes of transparent plastic material, to scale. His fame spread rapidly, and soon he had an entire class working in plastics and making models of numerous types. He has a collection of these.

"Art," as he is known to his friends, realized the possibilities of such models and training aids in private industry as well as in the Armed Forces. He also discovered that plastics have possibilities yet untouched.

When he was discharged after three years' service, "Art" returned home and decided in addition to his knowledge of plastics, he needed some business training, so he enrolled at Catherman's here for a course in accounting and business law.

In the meantime, he purchased some surplus machinery and equipment and installed it in a two-story concrete block building in the rear of his residence.

Morgan plans to manufacture and sell advertising novelties, industrial safety devices such as guards for saws and drills, various types of lighting fixtures and signs, display cases and racks for retail stores and other miscellaneous items.

Receives Orders

He has already been given a "go ahead" sign by two major industries here on items which they need, and several large retail stores, interested in encouraging the possible development of such an industry here, have placed future orders for display fixtures and price and size markers.

Morgan said he has ideas for several new gadgets which can be made in his plant, and he has applied for a patent on a new type all-plastic soap dish, which can be made in transparent plastic, or in

Far East Expert Speaks To Club

John Korba, foreign representative of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in the Far East, addressed the members of Tri-State Traffic Club at their dinner meeting at the Ali Ghan Country Club last night on the problems and conditions of Far Eastern countries.

Discussing the issues immediately confronting transportation in this country, Leo H. Ley, of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, outlined proposed rate increases now before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Eastern railroads are asking a 38 per cent increase in rates while carriers in the South and West request raises of 28 per cent; in the meantime a 10 per cent increase is asked for to be effective immediately to offset wage increases effective September 1 and constantly rising costs of coal and other supplies and materials.

Federal taxes on transportation for the last fiscal year brought in over one-half billion dollars which included 275 millions paid on freight and 244 millions on passenger travel. Gasoline taxes totaled $433 millions, Ley reported.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of Earl D. Chaney, president, and John L. Carnochan, secretary.

Mountain Radio Club Will Assist Hams Who Wish To Secure Licenses

Plans are being formulated by the Mountain Radio Club of Cumberland to provide classes in code and radio theory for members who wish to qualify for amateur radio licenses, Robert D. Harper, president, reported last night.

The classes will be part of the expanded program the club expects to institute when its headquarters on Oldtown Road, near Gordon's Restaurant, is completed. The club hopes to hold its first meeting in its new home September 24.

The club will install a 100 watt transmitter at the club for the use of its members. The set will allow transmission and reception on the 75 meter phone band for use of members holding Class A licenses, and on the 80 meter CW band for Class B licensed amateurs.

All but one of the teams which participated in Sunday's hidden transmitter hunt managed to locate the station which was being operated by L. R. Jenkins, well known local radio amateur.

The club has secured two tape machines which may be used to provide practice in learning code and have a complete set of tapes to be used on the devices.

For variety and to increase speed, members will listen to several short wave stations which broadcast news in code.

Flynn To Ask FBI To Aid In Opening New Filing System

Chief Raps "Fixing" Of Parking Tickets

The Cumberland Police Department is scheduled to get a complete new filing system, according to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, who said yesterday he will ask the FBI to send an agent here to assist in establishing the filing system.

Flynn made the announcement after declaring the "fixing of traffic and parking tickets" in the City of Cumberland is going to be stopped. He said the practice of "fixing" tickets for certain persons in the city is going to be ended.

The chief explained that a filing system will be set up so that copies of tickets issued by officers will be filed in his office and with the traffic bureau. When the motorist fails to put in an appearance a warrant will be issued for his arrest, Flynn said.

He explained that the filing system will be set up for traffic violations along with a complete revision of the present filing system at headquarters.

The chief, a graduate of the FBI's Washington, D. C., school for detectives, said it has been the practice of the federal bureau to give assistance to its graduates whenever possible, and he said he believes they will send an agent here to aid in establishing the new system.

Once the files are installed, Flynn said, one or two officers of the department will be assigned to keep the files up to date and in order. Flynn said some of the immediate sections of files that will be opened include accidents, investigations, criminal, fingerprinting and police reports.

In commenting on the "fixing" of tickets, he said, "at times so many tickets have been fixed that the officers have complained. They can see no reason why they should go to the trouble of trying to enforce laws if charges are to be dismissed without even a trial."

The chief also stated that department officials are now working on plans to enable probationary officers, who served with the armed forces, to get "on-the-job" training pay. Flynn said now that the quarterly school is being opened for officers, he believes it will be possible for the young officers serving the probation period to receive approximately $30 a month from the government.

Hoover Indicted On Murder Charge In Traffic Death

Accused of deliberately running over a man with his truck to settle a grievance, James William Hoover, Garrett County farmer and father of four children, yesterday was indicted by the Garrett County grand jury on a murder charge.

Hoover was arrested by Maryland State Police after Elzie F. Layman, 49, Shade Mill, near Frostburg, died in Miners Hospital from injuries suffered when he was allegedly struck by a truck operated by Hoover.

State Police at first termed the case a hit-run affair, but later, acting on information furnished by William Payton, service station operator, Hoover was arrested and signed a statement admitting that he intentionally struck Layman with the truck after the two men had an argument in Payton's service station.

Hoover, who can't read, said later that he was "sorry he did it," adding that he knew "the biggest part of what was going on, but that it was something I wouldn't have done if I hadn't been drinking."

State's Attorney Walter Dawson said that criminal trials will open in Oakland September 22, but said no date has been set for the Hoover case.

The grand jury also returned an indictment against a young Virginia man and his woman companion for burglary as the result of a breaking and entering at John Bachtel's service station near Red House last May.

Wilson L. Hottinger, 22, was surprised by Bachtel early on the morning of May 1 while in Bachtel's garage, authorities said, adding that the owner took a rifle and trapped Hottinger inside.

The intruder came out of a window on Bachtel's order and then suddenly lunged at the armed man. The service station owner fought off Hottinger and fired at him as he ran into the woods.

Hottinger and Mrs. Leafa Ollinger, also of Virginia, were arrested the following day in their car by State Police and officers of the Garrett County sheriff's office. The woman had been in the car nearby while Hottinger broke into the garage, according to police.

State's Attorney Dawson said 29 indictments were returned during the two-day session of the grand jury.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Michael D. Perry vs. Juanita W. Perry, No. 20,147. Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRMONII from the defendant.
The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married at San Bernadino, California, on the nineteenth day of April, 1945, and lived together three days at which time the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Complainant, and that the abandonment and desertion has been continuous and unbroken since that date, that there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation, and that no children were born of the marriage. The bill further states that the Complainant has been a resident of the state of Maryland, for more than two years next before the bringing of this suit, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of the state of Maryland, and when last heard from, was a resident of the state of California.
It is thereupon this 26th day of August, 1947, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1947, giving notification to the absentee Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning her to be or appear in this Court either in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Buying Spurt In Last Hour Puts Market Leaders In Plus Column

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — The stock market shifted through a sleepy session during most of today's proceedings, as speculation again centered on heavy commodity trading, but a buying spurt in the final hour put most leaders in the plus column for gains of fractions to two or more points.

Mild irregularity persisted until the final hour when there was a burst of short coverings and investment demand that erased many early declines and turned trends upward. Transfers of 740,000 shares compared with 750,000 the day before with 290,000 appearing in the concluding hour.

Touching 1947 tops in response to pleasing dividends were Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal, up eight points at 34; Island Creek Coal five at 52½ and Chicago Pneumatic Tool 2½ at 30½. American Woolen shot up 4⅝ at 44.

Ahead one to two or so were Twentieth Century-Fox at 27⅜, Warner Bros. 14⅞, Paramount Pictures 23, Universal Pictures 17½, Loew's 21, United States Steel 70, Bethlehem 87½, Youngstown Sheet 67¾, Chrysler 58½, Goodrich 52½, J. I. Case 37⅜, Douglas Aircraft 60½, Sperry 21⅜, Anaconda 34¾, Kennecott 45, Dow Chemical 37¼, Owens-Illinois 72½, International Paper 48, Cudahy 51½, Texas Pacific Land Trust 26⅞, United Fruit 56¾ and Allied Chemical 183½.

Small declines were retained by Santa Fe, New York Central, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, North American, American Can, du Pont and J. C. Penney.

In the forward section of the Curb were National Pressure Cooker, Irving Air Chute, Sherwin-Williams, Creole Petroleum, Ryan Consolidated Petroleum, International Products and Cities Service. Turnover here was 190,000 shares versus 180,000 yesterday.

Demand for a selected group of rails countered downward trends elsewhere in the bond market, including United State governments.

United States governments in the over-the-counter market lost 1/32 to 6/32 of a point, with the Victory Loan 2½s of 1967-'72 off 3/32 at 102 24/32 bid.

Sales totaled $3,570,000 compared with $3,671,000 Tuesday.

Typhoid Germs Found In Patterson's Creek

Campers Warned Not To Use Water

Fear of a typhoid epidemic resulting from continued use of Patterson's Creek waters for recreation purposes yesterday resulted in Mineral County, W. Va., Health authorities issuing a warning that coli organisms have been detected in the stream.

Three new cases of typhoid fever in the Keyser area have been traced to the Patterson Creek waters where the victims were swimming, according to William P. Waller, senior sanitation officer of Mineral County.

Waller explained that numerous coli organisms, of which the typhoid germ is a member, have been found in the creek waters just below Burlington, W. Va., and said it was within 10 miles of that area that the most recent victims admitted swimming.

Terming the possibilities that may arise from continued use of the waters "serious," Waller explained that it would be impossible to correct the situation this year and said removal of the coli organisms from the stream may take years.

The Patterson Creek waters have for years been a summer camping and recreation area for many tri-state area residents, according to health officials, and the contaminated conditions of the stream now present a serious problem.

While most of the coli organisms have been detected in the area immediately below Burlington, Waller explained that the Mineral County Health Department is more concerned with that section and for that reason has centered experiments there.

There is a very good possibility that the germs could be carried farther down the stream, he declared, and added that some of the disease organisms have been detected as much as 10 miles below Burlington.

In the past month at least four new cases of typhoid have been reported in Mineral County, according to Waller, and of these three have been traced to the creek waters with "reasonable certainty."

As a result of the discovery of germs in the creek, Dr. Harry F. Coffman, health officer, has ordered a public immunization clinic to be held Saturday morning in the Mineral County Court House, Waller said, adding that he advises all residents of the area to take advantage of precautions.

Waller said that the condition is caused partially by the sewage that is emptied into the stream at Burlington, but explained other sources of infection probably exist above that West Virginia community.

Residents of the areas bordering on the creek were also advised not to use the creek as a source of drinking or bathing water nor to use the water from nearby wells and springs.

No estimate could be obtained as to the number of persons who swim in the creek daily, but health authorities declared "large numbers" of the tri-state population have been spending vacation periods at cabins located along the stream.

South End Veteran Turns Hobby Into Small Industry In New Field

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT

A hobby which he started before his entry into the Army Air Forces during the war has grown to a point where Arthur C. Morgan, 30, of 8 Pennsylvania Avenue, is gradually establishing a new and novel small industry in Cumberland.

Morgan, a graduate of Pennsylvania Avenue High School in 1935 and an employe of the Celanese Corporation plant here for eight years, became interested in the field of plastics "just by reading about them." Then he bought a few pieces of plastic glass and started to make trinkets of one kind or another for his own amusement and to please his friends.

Gradually he acquired a small amount of machinery and tools, and his hobby became more and more fascinating, as the field of plastics broadened with improved materials, and plastics became more popular.

When he entered the Army Air Forces in April, 1943, Morgan first went to Miami, Fla., was later transferred to Scott Field at Lincoln, Neb., and finally went to Bryan Field, where Texas A. and M. College is located. Here he learned that some work was being done in plastics and signified his interest in the work. He was transferred immediately, and spent the next two years experimenting and working with plastics.

Has Model Collection

The Air Corps instructors needed training aids and Morgan duplicated practically all the instruments used in planes of transparent plastic material, to scale. His fame spread rapidly, and soon he had an entire class working in plastics and making models of numerous types. He has a collection of these.

"Art," as he is known to his friends, realized the possibilities of such models and training aids in private industry as well as in the Armed Forces. He also discovered that plastics have possibilities yet untouched.

When he was discharged after three years' service, "Art" returned home and decided in addition to his knowledge of plastics, he needed some business training, so he enrolled at Catherman's here for a course in accounting and business law.

In the meantime, he purchased some surplus machinery and equipment and installed it in a two-story concrete block building in the rear of his residence.

Morgan plans to manufacture and sell advertising novelties, industrial safety devices such as guards for saws and drills, various types of lighting fixtures and signs, display cases and racks for retail stores and other miscellaneous items.

Receives Orders

He has already been given a "go ahead" sign by two major industries here on items which they need, and several large retail stores, interested in encouraging the possible development of such an industry here, have placed future orders for display fixtures and price and size markers.

Morgan said he has ideas for several new gadgets which can be made in his plant, and he has applied for a patent on a new type all-plastic soap dish, which can be made in transparent plastic, or in

Far East Expert Speaks To Club

John Korba, foreign representative of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in the Far East, addressed the members of Tri-State Traffic Club at their dinner meeting at the Ali Ghan Country Club last night on the problems and conditions of Far Eastern countries.

Discussing the issues immediately confronting transportation in this country, Leo H. Ley, of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, outlined proposed rate increases now before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Eastern railroads are asking a 38 per cent increase in rates while carriers in the South and West request raises of 28 per cent; in the meantime a 10 per cent increase is asked for to be effective immediately to offset wage increases effective September 1 and constantly rising costs of coal and other supplies and materials.

Federal taxes on transportation for the last fiscal year brought in over one-half billion dollars which included 275 millions paid on freight and 244 millions on passenger travel. Gasoline taxes totaled $433 millions, Ley reported.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of Earl D. Chaney, president, and John L. Carnochan, secretary.

Mountain Radio Club Will Assist Hams Who Wish To Secure Licenses

Plans are being formulated by the Mountain Radio Club of Cumberland to provide classes in code and radio theory for members who wish to qualify for amateur radio licenses, Robert D. Harper, president, reported last night.

The club will install a 100 watt transmitter at the club for the use of its members. The set will allow transmission and reception on the 75 meter phone band for use of members holding Class A licenses, and on the 80 meter CW band for Class B licensed amateurs.

All but one of the teams which participated in Sunday's hidden transmitter hunt managed to locate the station which was being operated by L. R. Jenkins, well known local radio amateur.

The club has secured two tape machines which may be used to provide practice in learning code and have a complete set of tapes to be used on the devices.

Flynn To Ask FBI To Aid In Opening New Filing System

Chief Raps "Fixing" Of Parking Tickets

The Cumberland Police Department is scheduled to get a complete new filing system, according to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, who said yesterday he will ask the FBI to send an agent here to assist in establishing the filing system.

Flynn made the announcement after declaring the "fixing of traffic and parking tickets" in the City of Cumberland is going to be stopped. He said the practice of "fixing" tickets for certain persons in the city is going to be ended.

The chief explained that a filing system will be set up so that copies of tickets issued by officers will be filed in his office and with the traffic bureau. When the motorist fails to put in an appearance a warrant will be issued for his arrest, Flynn said.

He explained that the filing system will be set up for traffic violations along with a complete revision of the present filing system at headquarters.

The chief, a graduate of the FBI's Washington, D. C., school for detectives, said it has been the practice of the federal bureau to give assistance to its graduates whenever possible, and he said he believes they will send an agent here to aid in establishing the new system.

Once the files are installed, Flynn said, one or two officers of the department will be assigned to keep the files up to date and in order. Flynn said some of the immediate sections of files that will be opened include accidents, investigations, criminal, fingerprinting and police reports.

In commenting on the "fixing" of tickets, he said, "at times so many tickets have been fixed that the officers have complained. They can see no reason why they should go to the trouble of trying to enforce laws if charges are to be dismissed without even a trial."

The chief also stated that department officials are now working on plans to enable probationary officers, who served with the armed forces, to get "on-the-job" training pay. Flynn said now that the quarterly school is being opened for officers, he believes it will be possible for the young officers serving the probation period to receive approximately $30 a month from the government.

Hoover Indicted On Murder Charge In Traffic Death

Accused of deliberately running over a man with his truck to settle a grievance, James William Hoover, Garrett County farmer and father of four children, yesterday was indicted by the Garrett County grand jury on a murder charge.

Hoover was arrested by Maryland State Police after Elzie F. Layman, 49, Shade Mill, near Frostburg, died in Miners Hospital from injuries suffered when he was allegedly struck by a truck operated by Hoover.

State Police at first termed the case a hit-run affair, but later, acting on information furnished by William Payton, service station operator, Hoover was arrested and signed a statement admitting that he intentionally struck Layman with the truck after the two men had an argument in Payton's service station.

Hoover, who can't read, said later that he was "sorry he did it," adding that he knew "the biggest part of what was going on, but that it was something I wouldn't have done if I hadn't been drinking."

State's Attorney Walter Dawson said that criminal trials will open in Oakland September 22, but said no date has been set for the Hoover case.

The grand jury also returned an indictment against a young Virginia man and his woman companion for burglary as the result of a breaking and entering at John Bachtel's service station near Red House last May.

Wilson L. Hottinger, 22, was surprised by Bachtel early on the morning of May 1 while in Bachtel's garage, authorities said, adding that the owner took a rifle and trapped Hottinger inside.

The intruder came out of a window on Bachtel's order and then suddenly lunged at the armed man. The service station owner fought off Hottinger and fired at him as he ran into the woods.

Hottinger and Mrs. Leafa Ollinger, also of Virginia, were arrested the following day in their car by State Police and officers of the Garrett County sheriff's office. The woman had been in the car nearby while Hottinger broke into the garage, according to police.

State's Attorney Dawson said 29 indictments were returned during the two-day session of the grand jury.
